City clerk charges-board's 'irresponsible'

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Romulus Clerk Leonard Folmar charged last week that the city council has taken an "irresponsible attitude" toward appropriating funds for the clerk's department.

"They have a personal vendetta where I'm concerned. They will not listen to my requests," Folmar said. "They think they're hurting one man, but it's the community they're affecting."

FOLMAR was upset when the council denied his request for a transfer of $3,000 into his budget for the purchase of two new voting machines.

"I told them back during state reapportionment that we'd have to spend $3,000 for new voting machines to meet the new guidelines," said the clerk, "and they said that they'd take care of the shortage when I needed more machines."

"We just went through our own reapportionment, resulting in three new precincts, and we need new machines. Now the council changes its mind."

"They claim I overspent my budget, and that they can't give me more money, but there are accounts they haven't even touched."

FOLMAR admitted that his budget was approximately $1,250 in the red in two categories, office supplies and equipment rental, but showed that the "elections" portion of the budget has $1,500 which will never be spent.

"I can understand the council's reluctance to spend money unwisely," he said, "but I've asked for sessions on my budget problems and they refuse to have anything to do with them."

"They walk in here three times a month for council meetings, and think they know how to run this office."

"I'M COMPLETELY at a loss to understand how they know so much about what's going on when they're never here."

Folmar said that the refusal to transfer funds for voting machines isn't the only instance when he's been slapped by the council.

The council informally told the clerk's office that no more funds would be appropriated for office supplies in the clerk's budget, even though the clerk's department has the responsibility of ordering supplies for the entire city hall.

Huron sets vote on millage

Registered voters in the Huron School District will vote on a millage renewal proposition in a special election scheduled for Monday.

The Huron Board of Education and school administrative staffs are

"THEY DON'T understand that a man uses more office supplies when he's trying to do the best job possible," said

Folmar. "We're a growing community, and the administrators are trying to do a better job, so, naturally, the office supplies budgeted last June are insufficient today. "You don't learn that sort of thing coming into the city hall three times a month."

Councilman James Stewart has other opinions.

"He doesn't tell you he's misappropriated the budget badly," Stewart said. "He can't administer funds. The audit shows that he's $10,000 over budget now, and he's asking for more funds."

"YOU'VE GOT to understand that there's a fight between the administration and the council, and that they'll say anything to discredit the council. They'll even lie."

"And now, they're asking for more money. They're going to bleed the contingency fund until it's in the red."

Folmar denied Stewart's charges.

"My budget is not $10,000 over spent now," he said. "It was last year, but $9,000 of that was for codifying the city's ordinances, a project

School sets drug policy

By KAY DeBORD

Suspension from school and possible expulsion after a hearing is the fate in store for any Romulus school student, following the adoption of a policy on drugs, alcohol and inhalants by the Romulus school board at the Monday night meeting.

Passed unanimously by the seven-member board, the policy is official subject to the approval by the board's legal firm.

WORDING of the policy prohibits "the unlawful possession, sale or use of drugs and/or intoxicants or inhalants by students under the jurisdiction of the Romulus Community Schools."

The policy covers students in transit to or from school, at school activities on or in view of school premises.

STUDENTS violating the policy are to be immediately suspended from school pending a hearing with the board. At the hearing, the board will make the decision as to whether further disciplinary action is necessary.

The "further action" may include expulsion from the district schools.

The final decision on any action following the hearing will be in writing to both the student and his parents or legal guardians.

Covering rules and regulations for enforcing the newly-adopted policy will be defined by Robert Mc-

Coneghy, superintendent of schools.

THE BOARD also discussed the appointment of a committee to make recommendations on ways of handling the extended day program decided on by the board at a previous meeting in order to alleviate some of the student housing problems in the district.

The proposal adopted by the board would house students in grades kindergarten through five in the district's eight elementary schools, and grades 6-7 and 8-9 in the junior high school. The latter grades will attend in five-hour "shifts" with two separate sets of teachers, each teaching five classes.

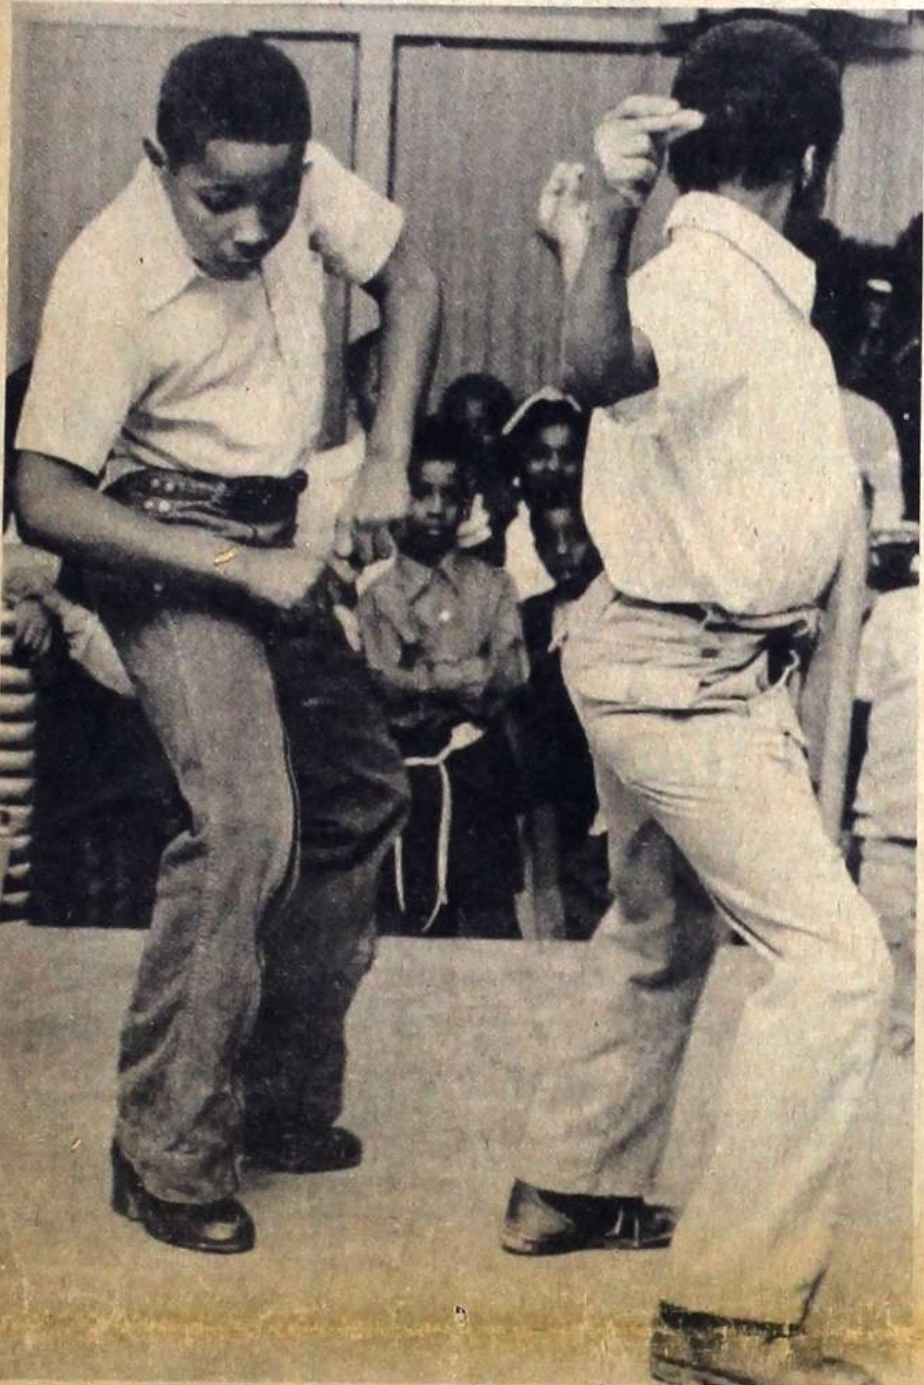

Two previously-defeated bond issues made the move necessary to relieve overcrowded classrooms.

ACCORDING to enrollment figures projected by the school administration, there will be more students in the district than can be housed without making the extended day adjustment and classroom reshuffling.

The board also heard from Lynn Welch of Eberly-Smith Associates, a well-known school construction firm, on the costs involved in a building program at this time. According to Welch, costs have doubled in a four-year period and are still rising.

IN OTHER action, the board acceded to the request of the former Beverly Parent Teacher Association for recognition as the Beverly Parent-Teacher Organization. The Beverly group recently disaffiliated with the National Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations.

Also approved was the appointment of William Thomas as track coach at Romulus Junior High School, the retirement of E. Athlene Young of the high school business department, effective in June, and the leave of absence of Rena M. Price, a Beverly School kindergarten teacher.

"WE'VE GOT RHYTHM" — Two youthful performers gyrate and sing along as they take their part in the program featuring school talent, held at Beverly Elementary School, Romulus. Chamber blames roads on council

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

The Romulus Chamber of Commerce calls the condition of the city's roads "deplorable" and places the blame on the Romulus City Council for leaving them that way.

In a release sent to area newspapers, Dolores Ristow, executive secretary of the chamber said: "Romulus chamber members, along with concerned citizens of Romulus at a recent open chamber meeting voiced their unhappiness over the fact that Romulus City Council just hasn't approved enough money toward the improvement of unpaved roads and streets in Romulus and it doesn't seem likely that they will."

MRS. RISTOW indicated that a communication stating: "We must direct your attention to the deplorable condition on many Romulus streets and roads," was sent to William Pritula, director of Romulus' Department of Public Works.

The communication backhandedly absolved the city administration and the department of public works of any blame. According to the release, the communication "did acknowledge past efforts of the administration and DPW in trying to keep abreast of the road problem," but indicated that Romulus residents have been "spinning their wheels and going nowhere" with complaints.

RETORTED Councilman James Stewart: "The money's there for roads, but we can't keep ahead of the rain and frost now."

"Mrs. Ristow had better be careful with what she prints, because there's little anyone can do to better the roads now. We're buying tons and tons of stone, but we can't keep ahead of the weather."

Mrs. Ristow doesn't accept the bad weather as a reason for poor roads.

"THE FEELING still remained," she said in the release, "that it is not always the fault of weather conditions that keep unpaved roads in the condition they usually are."

Stewart counters by saying: "There's a paving program up for approval before the council. I hope we'll get bids on the project by the time we get good weather, so we can blacktop some roads."

"We're not the only city suffering with the weather. There was a story in an area newspaper recently saying that all cities with dirt roads are suffering with the weather conditions."

County Commissioner Sabo faces term in jail

By MITCH KEHETIAN

Commissioner John N. Sabo Jr., says he is ready to go to jail before giving in to greedy courts that want to force the Wayne County Board of Commissioners into deficit spending.

The Romulus representative also suggests that they are "putting the wrong people in jail. They should put some of the judges in jail — especially Judge Sullivan."

The 26th District Democrat and 16 other members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners are facing "open-ended" contempt of court jail terms for refusing to allocate money to fund a probation officers contract negotiated by the Wayne County Circuit Court.

THE JAIL edict came last Thursday when Presiding Circuit Judge Joseph A. Sullivan

"They are putting the wrong people in jail. We should put some of the judges in jail — especially Circuit Judge Joseph A. Sullivan."

found the 17 commissioners guilty of contempt of court charges for voting against a court negotiated contract with probation officers.

"The courts are not accountable or responsible to the taxpayers of Wayne County for money being spent on the courts. Now they want us to take money away from hospitals and other departments to give to the greedy courts," Sabo charged.

Sabo also vowed to go to jail "because of the principle involved. The question now centers around whether the courts have the power to legislate and negotiate — the legislative powers of duly elected commissioners must be protected."

CONTINUING, Sabo told The Enterprise-Roman that "We have a certain amount of money to work with within our budget and the Wayne County General Hospital is our top priority. But the court wants to force us into deficit spending — and I'll fight it."

The judge ordered the dissenting commissioners, including Sabo, to report to Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas at 9 a.m. Monday unless they agree to the contract by the jail sentence date.

And unless a compromise is reached, Sabo will be joined by three other Western Wayne County commissioners who refused to approve the probation officers contract. They include Tom F. Taylor (D-29th District), Brian G. Arrowsmith (R-27th District), and John Barr (D-21st District).

Sullivan's jail sentence edict came after the commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee, voted against funding the contract negotiated between the court and Local 1905 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which represents 42 probation officers.

THE YEAR-LONG feud between the commissioners and the court is expected to continue right up to the jail imposed sentence edict Monday.

Board Chairman Robert Fitzgerald, also facing a contempt of court jail threat, said "I voted no because I believe that I have been vested with the statutory and constitutional authority on behalf of the people of Wayne County to represent them. I am a servant of the people and I shall never become a servant of the court, and that will always be my position."

Though the commissioners negotiate all labor contracts, the Circuit Court negotiated the controversial probation officers contract by using a recent Michigan Supreme Court decision as its legal weapon to negotiate such contracts.

Snowmobile owners still need insurance

Some midwest snowmobile owners may think they do not need insurance if there is no snow to "go on." Many owners have the mistaken notion that, as long as the snowmobile is safely parked on a trailer in the yard or in the garage, they are not taking any chances if they do not have insurance.

Many insurers offer broad "value" of the snowmobile protection, such as comprehensive and collision with deductibles to reduce the cost. Similar to coverage on a car, it would apply if the unit were stolen, wrecked in a collision or if it fell through the ice into a river or lake.

Such value insurance is written on an inland marine "floater" or as part of a special snowmobile package policy that also provides liability insurance.

Or even greater importance to the snowmobiler is liability insurance, similar to that for automobiles.

AFTER all, snowmobiles have collided with other snowmobiles, cars, trucks, trains, buildings, even valuable landscaping. Personal injuries and property damage, in many cases, have been serious and involved thousands of dollars, especially where death resulted.

Last season, 335 persons were injured and 104 were killed in the midwest.

SO OWNERS of snowmobiles need adequate bodily injury and property damage liability (including lawsuit) protection to avoid the nasty surprise of getting a court summons and discovering they lacked proper protection.

University. In the program the student feeds in answers to a set of questions regarding the way he affects the environment around him and the computer tells him how he, as an individual, compares to the norm as a polluter. Other students in the picture are (from left) Ted Stanfel, Sam Robinson, and Robbin Rider.

Lenten sermon

Season should remind us of death, resurrection

NOTE: The following is the second of a series of Lenten sermons by area pastors and leading churchmen. This week's article was submitted by Rev. Joseph F. Kernosek, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus.

By REV. JOSEPH F. KERNOSEK

The season of Lent brings vividly to our minds the mystery of death and resurrection. One thing we must all do is face death. We must find some meaning in death, some hope of resurrection. For some, death comes very suddenly — without the prolonged agony of anticipation.

For others death is a long time coming — something they alternately face and then reject in spite of a consciousness of its inevitability. Still others face death squarely — they know it must come to everyone and they accept it.

CHRIST OUR Lord faced the reality of death. He knew what His mission in life was. He knew where His preaching was leading Him — and He accepted the consequences.

The way we learn to accept the minor sufferings in everyday life is indicative of our ability to face death. Lent is a period set aside to do penance.

Now, with the relaxed church laws, the main thrust of penance is left up to the individual. One of the best penances we know of is to accept the normal aggravations of everyday life.

WE ALL remember the classic example of the good Christian who tucked away his pipe for Lent, and tested everyone's patience to the limit. Unwittingly, he was indulging in the old-time Pharaiseic hobby of imposing burdens on other people. His family and friends were anxious for Easter to arrive so he would be his old self again.

Today we would prefer our man to select a Lenten practice that will be a distinct advantage to others; a three-dimensional penance, which takes into account not himself only, but also God and God's human images, people.

REMEMBER that Christ's resurrection gives meaning to our everyday lives. Accept your suffering with resignation and you will be able to accept the reality of death — knowing that the victory of the resurrection is awaiting you.

Philanthropist, Dr. Bell dies

Dr. Haley Bell, prominent Detroit dentist, philanthropist, and funder of Radio Station WCHB in Romulus, died Monday.

Dr. Bell, who was to be honored at the March 21 meeting of the Detroit Cotillion Club.

Among his affiliations were the National Urban League, the Cancer Society, Boy Scouts of America, the Memorial Park Association, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Dental Association, the Wolverine Dental Society, Adcraft Club, and the Detroit Press Club.

IN A PROCLAMATION, declaring March 21 "Dr. Haley Bell Day" in his honor, Mayor Hyle Carmichael said: "The Bell Broadcasting System was founded in the City of Romulus in 1955, signifying faith in our community and has been a great contributing factor in the economy of the City of Romulus, affording its citizens the opportunity to enter into the mainstream of metropolitan life."

INFORMATION on funeral services was incomplete at the time of publication.

Land in Romulus to remain vacant

Vacant land in Romulus's northwestern section, once eyed for construction by a major developer, will remain vacant a while longer, thanks to a Romulus City Council decision last week.

The council unanimously denied Seligman and Associates request to rezone 76 acres of land on Wick Road by the C & O Railroad tracks from a light industrial (M-1) zoning to a high density single family home (R-1-B) designation, much to the dissatisfaction of Mayor Hyle Carmichael.

"I VOTED for the rezoning on the planning commission," said the mayor. "This land has been vacant for quite some time, and it doesn't look like industry wants it."

"So we get a developer, and the council turns it down." Councilman James Stewart, speaking for the body, backed the decision.

"THE SCHOOLS are already planning on half day sessions, and a rezoning such as this would only add to the problem," he said. "The railroad tracks are good for industry. I've never seen a single family home development that could use a railroad siding."

"Carmichael's only looking for a means to make the tax base in Romulus good during his term, and not at the future."

CARMICHAEL disagrees: "The guts of the issue is that a man should have a right to utilize his land, and the council, with its decision, has denied the man the right to use his land."

Mahalak named to SEMCOG

State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) has been reappointed to the Council on Environmental Strategy of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The reappointment was announced by James P. Grannan, chairman of the council. In a letter to Mahalak, Grannan said: "I wish to thank you for your service during this past year as a member of the Council on Environmental Strategy (CES). Because of your active interest and participation in the work of CES, I am reappointing you for another term as a member of this advisory council."

MAHALAK'S latest term on the council will continue until January, 1974.

"I am pleased and honored by this reappointment," Mahalak said. "I feel that the role of the council has developed very effectively during the past year. As participation in and knowledge of the work of the council of governments is broadened, the work of the Council on Environmental Strategy will become even more significant."

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments is a voluntary association of local governments. Its Council on Environmental Strategy is composed of representatives of government, professional and technical persons and citizens concerned with the quality of the environment in Southeastern Michigan.

MAHALAK HAS been active in environmental legislation for a number of years.

Council gets road blame

"They just can't keep ahead of the weather either."

The chamber, according to Mrs. Ristow, feels that poor roads in the community are harming businesses now in the community, and are turning others away.

"THE ROMULUS Chamber of Commerce feels that the good or bad condition of roads and streets in any city will directly affect all prospective developers, businesses and residential people who seriously think of locating in that city, in this case — Romulus," she wrote in the letter to the city.

More than $620,000 for road maintenance has been appropriated in this year's budget.

The figures include $420,500 for local road maintenance and $202,000 for major road maintenance. Some $100,000 of the funds for local roads, and $200,000 of the funds for major roads comes from state weight and gas tax revenues.

By state law, that money must be spent on road maintenance.

Kavanagh cites mockery of state courts

LANSING — Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh had nothing to lose so he zinged the legislature coming and going in his State of the Judiciary message.

What he proposed is how the state judiciary should be, not by any measure of legislative wisdom what it will be.

Kavanagh knew this because the 18 years he has spent in state government, four years as attorney general and 14 on the Supreme Court, have made him a realist, with a touch of the pessimist.

IT WAS HEARTENING to note that Kavanagh's offense has improved to match the defense.

He repeated his proposal that the state take over full financing of the courts, at a cost of $112 million a year, a plan that had picked up some allies in the legislature.

This year, however, he asked for a constitutional amendment which would earmark three per cent of the state's general fund revenues for an automatically revolving court fund.

Hannibal crossed the Alps with elephants and Attila the Hun roared out of the east to devastate middle Europe. Kavanagh's address showed that kind of offense.

"NOW, THE COURT once again earnestly urges immediate action by the legislature to finance the court system on the only practical, sensible basis — statewide..." he said.

This would "do away once and for all with the fragmented, unfair system which has made a mockery of Michigan's 'one court of justice'..."

Legislators quickly made it plain that getting a two-thirds vote of the House and Senate to place the earmarking idea on the ballot would be a miracle.

The leadership of both parties, who have trouble agreeing where to go to lunch, agreed this time.

A GREAT DEAL of work went into the research Kavanagh cited. The real thinkers on court improvements concurred in advance on the rightness of the idea.

And Kavanagh, who has known how the legislature works even without a crisis, had the courage to lay it out for the state knowing it is a game plan for some future year, maybe some still-pending generation.

So let's hear it for Kavanagh's new offense, which now may need only a brushup on running the down and out pattern.

His defense of the court is still good.

"THERE HAS been a tendency on the part of court critics and the media to be hung up on one phase of judicial reform — that appointment of judges, rather than election of judges, would solve all the court's problems," he said.

"This is the point at which criticism begins, but blinders are applied where the real problems exist."

"How our judges are chosen most certainly is important, and must undergo serious consideration, but this element of judicial reform is only the proverbial tip of the iceberg."

"The judiciary has unfairly become the scapegoat for failures in the hodge-podge of legislation governing court personnel, financing — all operations."

"THE JUDGE has become the easy mark, unjustly blamed for all things wrong with the entire system."

It was Kavanagh's reaction against the outcry against the courts in the antibusing areas, where critics fail to make the distinction between state and federal courts.

And it's incredible that Kavanagh thought he would be making friends in the legislature by explaining the problem, proposing a novel answer and blaming the legislature and the public...

But he zinged them good and perhaps, as Kavanagh aficionados concur, that was what he had in mind.

Judge's jail threat a shameful ploy

The "go to jail, or else" threat handed down against 17 Wayne County Commissioners for refusing to bow before a Circuit Court edict is outrageous and a shameful play of power by the court.

While the picture remains muddled as to who is responsible for the shameful mess that surfaced last week, we see no logic prompting Circuit Judge Joseph A. Sullivan to threaten the dissenting commissioners with a "pay" or go to jail threat.

The four percent package offered by the commissioners to the court's 40 or so probation officers is nothing to scoff at — considering the fund problems plaguing county government.

But Judge Sullivan, by the tone of his jail threat, feels the county should turn its back on staff problems at Wayne County General Hospital to sweeten the probation officer's pay checks — whatever the cost.

Even more disturbing, as noted by Westland-Garden City Commissioner Tom F. Taylor, is the knowledge that Wayne County is the only county in this state in which probation officers do not come under state jurisdiction.

This newspaper has repeatedly stated that the time has come for a clear defining of judicial authority. The "Sullivan Edict" clearly tells us it is time for court reform.

The question is whether the courts have the constitutional authority to tell duly elected legislative units of government how much money they feel the courts should receive to fatten the pay checks of probation employees.

And another pressing question that needs answering is whether the Wayne County Circuit Court has the power, and authority, to negotiate salary contracts for its employees.

It appears the court is bent on over exercising a recent Supreme Court ruling which states legislative bodies must provide "reasonable and necessary" funds for the operation of our state courts.

Judge Sullivan has taken the term "reasonable and necessary" to mean "go to jail, or else..."

Commissioner John N. Sabo Jr., the Romulus representative on the County Board suggests "the wrong people are being sent to jail."

The commissioner raises a good point.

Sumpter's drain problem in need of correction

Each year this time, Spring brings muddy road conditions to outlying areas of Western Wayne County — Sumpter Township being no exception.

But in the case of Sumpter's drainage problems, the problem appears far and above the usual Spring thaw dilemma — based on the wording of a resolution offered by the Township Board.

The resolution claims that "no real work on the township's drains system has been done in 20 years," and further cites the present danger to health caused by over-flowing drainage.

In addition to the health threat, the resolution calls upon immediate action to prevent a repeat of the mess next year, otherwise any chances of industrial growth will filter down clogged drains and ditches.

Based on reports emanating from Lansing, the southeastern section of the state will remain in a "high water cycle for the foreseeable future."

If Sumpter's future is to be considered by the county's Board of Commissioners, then it is time for a plan of action to clean-up the drain system in the township.

WELFARE FOR STRIKERS-A BIG APPETITE.

Taxpayer troupe tries to halt striker welfare

(Last of three parts)

Angry taxpayers plan to pursue their court fight to block the use of public funds to support strikers with food stamps and welfare grants.

They lost their first round last year when Ingham County Circuit Judge Ray Hotchkiss threw their case out of court.

Frank Landon Young, a Lansing attorney representing the taxpayers group said the appeal died on the no-progress calendar in the State Court of Appeals but he expects another will be started.

The original case was based on the 1970 General Motors strike when Social Services Director R. Bernard Houston said 100,000 idled workers received food stamps and 20,000 got other welfare payments.

By DON HOENSHELL.

Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau Chief

"It goes to the heart of the whole philosophy and involves the effectiveness of the collective bargaining system and whether public money should be used in this manner," Young said.

"A General Motors worker might have two cars and $20,000 in the bank and still be getting help during a strike. These people were voluntarily not working."

Young started the case for taxpayers living in Ingham and Genesee counties Nov. 1, 1970, during the last days of the GM strike. Hotchkiss issued his ruling May 19, 1971 and the appeal was dropped last Nov. 1.

Hotchkiss' decision adopted the language of an Oct. 9, 1970, ruling by Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley which borrowed from a 1948 opinion by former Atty. Gen. Eugene F. Black. The ruling said:

"Therefore, where the family is otherwise eligible for the food stamp program, federal law does not empower the state to restrict that eligibility because of the fact that a member of the family is on strike."

"In other words, this is a matter of federal law."

Black's 1948 opinion held that direct relief payments can be made to families determined "to be in need, whether the strike was lawful or not."

CLEAN UP COST
TORONTO (AP) — Pollution control in Canada will cost the federal government and private industry between $1.5 billion and $2 billion annually, said Ontario Marketing Productions Ltd., in a recent report.

The federal policy to provide benefits to strikers has been buttressed by a Department of Health, Education and Welfare, regulation entitled, "Unemployment of father as a Deprivation Factor."

Thus, Hotchkiss ruled, the proper place for the lawsuit would be the federal court.

Houston indicated HEW may be re-thinking the policy. He said he has received two separate regulations on benefits to strikers with a request for comments on both. Both would give the states discretion.

"This is a very unusual device — two apparently conflicting regulations," Houston said. "We'll analyze their provisions and reply."

During the 1970 General Motors strike, the ADC-U payment to each family was $299.76 in September, $240.70 in October, $198.96 in November, dropping back toward normal at $159.51 in December.

The food stamp program is strictly a federal project — originally designed as a means to stabilize the economy by distributing excess products and to improve the quality of diet of the poor.

The use of welfare has been a recent phenomenon, which goes back to the welfare and poverty programs of the Kennedy and Johnson administration.

Dr. Armand J. Thieblot Jr., the University of Pennsylvania researcher whose research has sent shudders into the ranks of labor and the board rooms of industry, said it was slowly catching on.

"It remained for the strikes of the late 1960's and 1970's to establish the current trend of increasing use of public welfare in strikes," he said.

Prior to that time, workers themselves resisted the idea of supporting themselves on public money during strikes. Now Thieblot and others predict an escalation of the practice now that the policy has been established unless Congress takes a hand or HEW can be convinced that the use of public money to support a strike is improper.

Forced busing is wrong

By Mitchell D. Kehetian, Editor

On the broiling question of forced cross-district busing of public school children, much has been said and written — but the threat still prevails.

Eventually, the pro and con forces will argue and debate the issue before the High Court of this land — and then, and only then will the controversial issue be resolved.

AT THIS JUNCTURE it appears the High Court would reach an impasse if called upon today to voice an opinion. The tipping of the scale will come, if it does, from the White House.

And the scale will be in favor of the anti-busers — if Richard Nixon decides to exert some White House muscle.

Based on the President's past statements on forced busing, including his remarks made last fall while addressing the dedication ceremony of the new Eisenhower High School in Macomb County — the commander-in-chief remains steadfastly opposed to cross-district busing of children for the purpose of racial integration.

Eventual integration is essential to the future of this land. But using children as the pawns in a forced social experiment is wrong — morally and spiritually.

BUSING INNER CITY black children to white suburban schools for several hours a day, and then sending them back to the sprawling ghettos on a return bus ride is not the answer.

At the same time, I see no logic in carting a white child away from his home to a far-away school in Detroit merely for social experimentation.

Once this nation of ours embarks on a course of forced busing of children solely because of color — then this land will reflect back to the early thirties when a dictator named Hitler decreed that the state knew what was best for the children of Germany.

FROM THIS VANTAGE point, the proponents of forced busing seem intent on using the busing question as a tool to teach the white middle-class American a lesson.

This nation cannot afford lessons that separate the races. For too long black Americans were "forced" to go to schools for blacks only, homes for blacks only and jobs for blacks only...if they could get a job.

This is not the time to execute reverse treatment. It could tear this nation apart. Having covered the early busing scene, I clearly recall Federal Judge Stephen Roth telling members of the press that he would explore all aspects of a proposed metro plan before issuing the court order. He also warned that "we're going into uncharted waters," and added: "Before this court rules on the question of enjoining the suburbs into a cross-bus plan with Detroit, the suburbs shall have their day in court. Tell the people of suburbia to remain calm..."

BUT THE LIFETIME appointed federal judge changed his "uncharted course" at a later date when he ruled that the only voice he would allow suburbia to exercise in court would be how they intended to implement a cross-district metro plan.

The hand of "Big Brother" government admits failure in rehabilitating the old core cities of America — and it tells black Americans "sorry we failed, but we'll send your children on a bus ride into white suburbia..."

Blacks want more than a bus ride — they've had their fill of riding backseat; and whites have had it with "Big Brother" telling him where to live and what school his child will be forced to attend.

AN EXAMPLE OF "Big Brother" knows best came when the High Court ruled favorably in the heated abortion issue — though the citizens of this country oppose the wanton liberalization of abortion laws.

I think it's time the federal courts left the legislating to duly elected members of the Congress and stuck to their specific charge — interpretation of the laws.

Speaking of schools

Swimming develops student character

By Sam Vicchy, Director of Swimming, Van Buren Public Schools

Those who have been connected with competitive swimming for a few years always found it aggravating that (with the exception of Olympic years) swimming receives little publicity.

It is also true a majority of the high school swim meets are poorly attended, especially comparing swimming to sports like football and basketball.

This is not to say that a few schools do not often have sellout crowds. They do, however, it can be proved overall that swimming is not a sport which generates tremendous spectator enthusiasm.

Swimming must also take a back seat to other sports from a financial standpoint. Most schools are not going to put a great deal of money into a sport that cannot support itself.

While there are many schools that offer substantial financial aid to swimmers, most schools are not in a position to offer money to swimmers. It could again be demonstrated statistically that in such sports as football, basketball, baseball and even wrestling there is more money available in the form of scholarships.

With so many drawbacks why has competitive swimming steadily gained in popularity during the past ten years? Why do thousands of children compete throughout the nation in the ever expanding age group programs?

I believe the answer centers around the nature of swimming as a sport, its inherent values, and the direction society is moving. Even though we in the United States are often criticized as being materialistic, I feel there has been an increasing awareness of responsibility toward attitudes, principles and values that have made this nation great.

Some of the important ones have been honesty, fair competition, a sense of pride in accomplishment, realization of goals through hard work, the principle of self-discipline, respect of others regardless of race or creed, and faith in the spirit of individualism among others.

All of these attitudes are built into swimming.

Any boy or girl who expects to become a success in competitive swimming must possess a tremendous amount of self-discipline. Many hours must be spent practicing and competing.

It is almost impossible for a competitive swimmer to enjoy the idle pleasures of teenage life as many of the swimmer's classmates enjoy. This does not mean, however, that a swimmer's life is drudgery.

The best swimmers I have known are usually an integral part of school life, often some of the most popular kids in school and those who participate in social functions. If anything, swimming seemed to complement the lives of most swimmers, not detract.

While sports require a certain amount of discipline, swimming takes more than most. The swimmer is confined to a pool, and his head is under water most of the time. To be honest, I cannot see anything interesting about swimming 100 yards, 10 times every 3 minutes. In fact, I could see where it would get to be highly boring.

Before I paint such a dismal picture of swim workouts, I should mention that many swimmers enjoy them, primarily because they are highly motivated and also because they know that each session at the pool is a step toward their goal.

Another asset connected with competitive swimming is, it can serve as a tremendous force in the building of self-confidence. Many swimmers who have come to us were unsure of themselves, and often had previously failed in other sports. We have often seen sheer determination overcome the most discouraging physical obstacles in swimming. Nothing takes more self confidence than to stand up on the starting blocks with all your friends, parents and coaches watching you.

If I thought the primary value of competitive swimming was to get a young man or woman to swim four lengths of a pool seven seconds faster in three years, I would quit coaching.

PLUGGED UP DRAIN-DITCH — Sumpter Township is having "serious" problems with its drain system and road ditches due to a high water cycle that township officials report. Township Police Chief Terry Williams points to a "plugged-up road drain-ditch" in the 45000 block of Judd Road near Sumpter Road. County officials have been requested to "act immediately" on the bad water situation in the township.

McQuaid

Army Specialist Four Keith B. McQuaid, 21, son of Mrs. F. Mildred McQuaid, 197 Edgemont Ave., Belleville, recently participated with 15,000 American and Allied troops in exercise reforge IV in Germany.

Spec. McQuaid is a medical records clerk and an ambulance driver in Company B of the 1st Medical Battalion at Ft. Riley, Kan.

The U.S. Air Force Military Airlift Command flew approximately 10,000 U.S.-based soldiers and more than 1,000 tons of equipment to three different airfields in Germany in preparation for the event.

Immediately after arriving overseas, the redeployed units drew combat gear and vehicles from prepositioned storage sites in Germany and moved to the exercise area to begin the five-day field maneuver.

Pitted against the airlifted forces were Europe-based elements of NATO forces of the U.S., Germany and Canada.

Emphasis of the maneuver was to test procedures and techniques for receiving and deploying units after they arrive, rather than on rapid air transport of troops from the U.S.

Loose fan belt can cause problem

A loose fan belt on a car can cause overheating and battery discharge and a broken belt can put the vehicle on the disabled list.

Fan belts play an important part in a car's operation. They are involved in the operation of the cooling and electrical systems, power steering and air conditioning among other things.

PERIODIC inspections for loose, cracked or frayed fan belts when checking the oil, battery or radiator, are recommended as sound preventive maintenance.

When cracks appear on the underside of a belt, the amount of flexing increases which shortens the life of the belt. Belts with grease or oil on them slip and wear out rapidly.

IF BELTS appeared frayed or glazed on inner surfaces, or if stretched so thin they ride the bottom of the pulleys, replace them. When dual pulleys, such as transmitting power to the air conditioner compressor, they should be replaced as a pair for best results even though only one appears worn.

A loud, squealing noise under the hood when turning a corner or parking usually indicates a loose fan belt slipping on the power steering pump pulley.

TIGHTEN the belt by moving the power steering pump or alternator outward from the engine until the belt deflects only one-half inch when pressed down with the thumb.

If the squealing continues, coat the belt with V-belt dressing available at service stations and auto supply stores. If this fails, the belt probably is stretched and should be replaced.

civic chairman, discussed the clean-up of the little lakeside park at the entry of Belleville.

Members then motored to Marsh's Greenhouses at Rockford for an African violet tour. The group also saw tomatoes growing and a new variety of cucumbers which will soon be ready for market.

Mrs. Earl Smith will be hostess at a 12:30 salad luncheon for the April meeting.

Awards were given to Florence Sugars, first; Joyce Maki, second; and Rose Welt and Ruby Clayton, low.

A card was signed by all present and sent to Past Matron Nina Todd in Ann Arbor.

March bride-elect is 'showered'

MARIANNE GREENAMYRE, daughter of the John Greenamyres of Valhalla, New York, and Gene Turney, son of the Leo Turneys of Belleville, are engaged and making plans for their spring wedding. Last Friday evening the bride-elect had the fun of opening scads of presents when close friends of the Turneys, Mrs. Robert Perry and her daughter-in-law, Deborah Perry, entertained at a bridal shower in her honor.

Held at the senior Perry's newly-renovated farm near Saline, the miscellaneous event featured a clever bit of diversion which resulted in prizes for Mrs. Jessie Kondrat of Berkley, Mrs. Loretta Patalocco, Mrs. Leo Turney, and the honoree.

Also presented with awards were Mrs. Joseph Moon, Mrs. James Richendollar, Mrs. Bert Smith, and Mrs. Robert Baker with Mrs. Gerald Miller taking home the house prize.

Chris Greenamyre was here from E. Lansing to help with the ribbons and wrappings as her sister opened her gifts. A buffet supper and socializing rounded out the evening for the 25 guests who also included Mrs. Roland Henderson of Ypsilanti; Patti Perry of Saline; and Bellevillites, Mrs. Darryl Raymond, Mrs. William Doonan and daughters, Marla and Linda; Mrs. Russell Seaman, Mrs. Al Cicotte and daughter, Mary; Mrs. Cliff Wenger, Mrs. Cecil Barton, Mrs. Joseph Apap, Sue Smith, and Mrs. Martha Igerson.

Mariannne, a senior at Michigan State University, and Gene, an MSU graduate now working in Minneapolis, Minnesota, will be married in Valhalla March 24.

Paul Pyenta has a new brother

ALTHOUGH MARK THOMAS Pyenta was born February 20, it wasn't until March 4 that he was allowed to be taken home. Born a month prematurely, the baby is the second son of Stephan and Carol Pyenta of 30286 Dorset, Romulus. Their other son Paul, is two years old.

Mark's birth weight was recorded at 5 lbs. - 2 1/2 ozs. at Riverside Osteopathic Hospital in Trenton. His mother, the former Carol Swierkos, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swierkos of Sebastian, Florida. The paternal grand-parents are the John Pyentas of Detroit.

'State' roommate feted at shower

CATHY STABNAU played hostess Sunday at a bridal shower honoring her suite-mate at Michigan State, Paula Roberts of Livonia. Festivities were held at the home of Cathy's grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Krebs of Angola Street.

Airy wisps of lingerie and other colorful personal items were presented to the honoree for her trousseau. And, surprisingly, most of the gifts came packaged in pretty pink and white wrappings which carried out the color scheme of the party and that of the pending wedding.

Fifteen friends from MSU and relatives enjoyed the afternoon of games and the salad luncheon which followed. The pink and white floral centerpiece was later presented as a door prize — the future bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Virginia Nordon, being the winner.

Cathy will be a bridesmaid at the wedding which is scheduled for May 4. The prospective bridegroom, Jed Nordon, is a one-time resident of Belleville, having lived here as a young boy.

Here 'n there... around the town

MR. AND MRS. Hazen Giar of Savage Road spent the week-end of March 2 at Fort Knox, Kentucky where they visited Curtis Moe, the only son of close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Moe of Harper Woods. . . WEEK-END GUESTS of Roger and Aileen Allyn were Bob and Pat Shayne of Columbus, Ohio. The foursome spent Saturday night in Birmingham where they attended an anniversary party for Dane and Nellie Dancok. The 10-year celebration was hosted by Nellie's sister and husband, Nora and John Heilbronner.

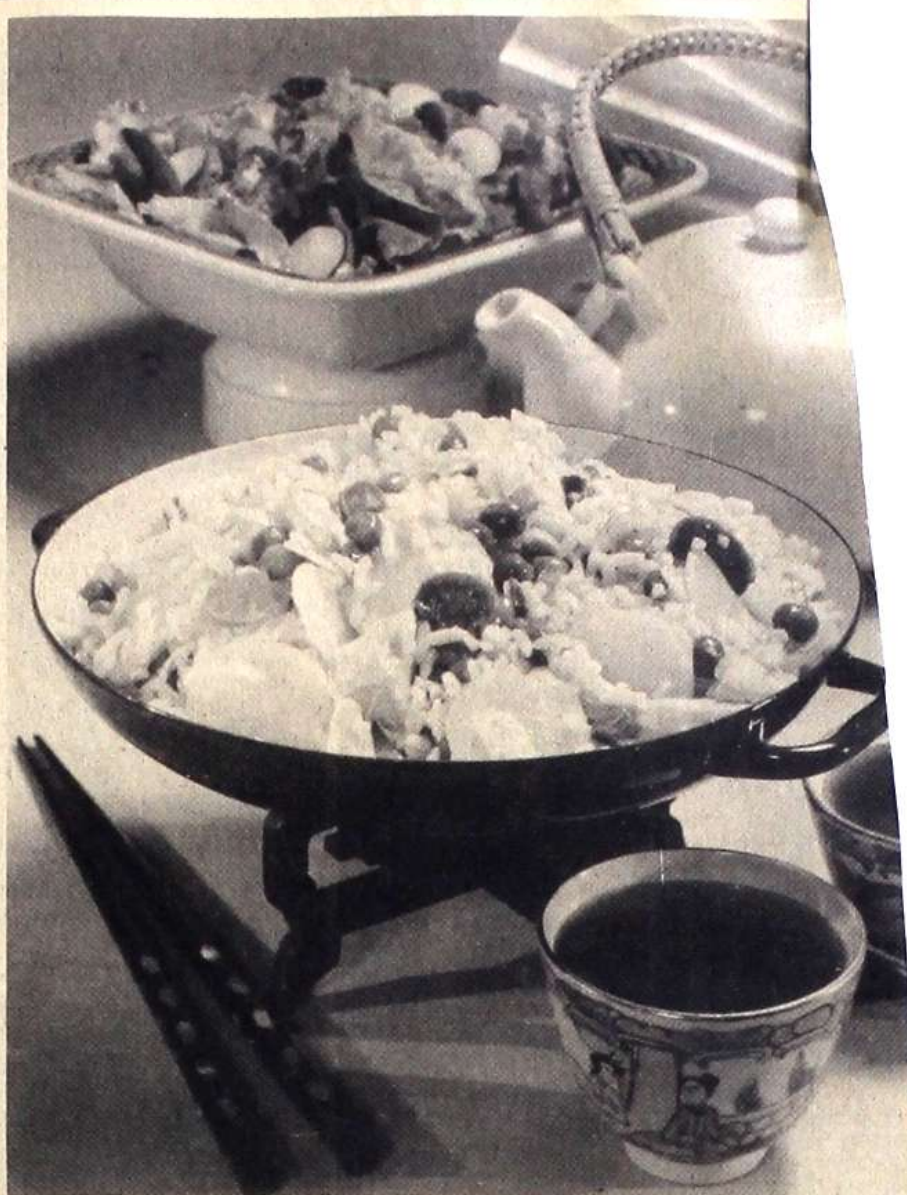

Maitlands welcome second son, Walter

Walter Russell Maitland, who's two and half years old, has a new baby brother to look in on these pre-spring days. The newest addition to the family is Douglas John Maitland who arrived February 28 at Annapolis Hospital, Wayne.

The seven pound - one and a half ounce is the son of Russell and Rosemary Maitland of 7655 Merriman Road, Romulus. His grand-parents are Mr. and Mrs.

Walter Zbikowski of Dearborn Heights and John Maitland of Romulus.

JUST THE TWO OF YOU — At the close of a busy week-end, plan a relaxing dinner for two — Savory Chicken Oriental. Let Birds Eye Rice and Peas with Mushrooms do most of the work for you and give yourself a special treat. (Courtesy Birds Eye Combination Vegetables.)

For your recipe file

Parents lib--supper for two

Come Sunday evening, you and your husband deserve an easy, relaxing supper for two. After the children have all been fed, send them off to do their homework. Then select a favorite record for the stereo, and light a colorful candle or two. Plan to serve supper on a card table by the living room window or on tray tables by the fireplace.

Thanks to interesting new food combinations and foreign-inspired cookware, you can even select the nationality of the meal. The traditional Oriental wok, for instance, once available only in heavy utilitarian metal, has blossomed out in bright beautiful enamelware that can be brought right to your Sunday night table. And with Birds Eye Rice and Peas with Mushrooms, your basic kitchen preparation is already done for Savory Chicken Oriental. The chicken can be diced cooked chicken or canned boned chicken. Serve this entrée with a mixed green salad and an oriental tea. The entire meal can be prepared in about 30 minutes.

Such an easy and attractive menu is too good to be kept just for Sundays. Keep the makings in freezer and on shelf to make any weekday luncheon a little special.

Savory Chicken Oriental

- 1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts
- 1 package (7 oz.) frozen rice and peas with mushrooms
- 1 can (5 1/2 oz.) boned chicken
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons chopped celery
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon soy sauce

Drain water chestnuts, reserving liquid; slice. Combine with remaining ingredients and reserved liquid in medium saucepan. Cover and bring to a full boil over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Then reduce heat and simmer 8 minutes. Makes 3 1/2 cups or 3 servings.

One such step is the preparation of a realistic

Senator sets public hearing on flood control and relief

A public hearing on flood control and relief programs in the 11th state senatorial district (including Sumpter Township) will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Judge James Kelley's court room, Monroe County Court House, Monroe.

"This hearing is an extension of a similar meeting I attended at the Swan Boat Club on March 3," Senator John E. McCauley said. "At that time, about 200 people expressed their concerns about what now seems the inevitable spring flood."

MCCAULEY said that he has invited federal, state and local officials to the session.

He added that his preliminary investigation showed that there are some programs in effect, others in the planning stages, but that there appeared to be a lack of a comprehensive, coordinated master plan.

"Obviously, we have little time to prepare," McCauley said. "What we must do is hear from the people affected by the flooding problems that are sure to come, bring the various officials charged with helping to solve the problems together, and work out both short and long range action programs."

ARRANGEMENTS have been made to use the parking lot on the southwest corner of

First and McComb Streets. Since the meeting will be on a Saturday, participants are asked to enter through the court house door off the alley between First and Second Streets, Senator McCauley said signs will be posted directing people to the proper entrance.

"Unless we have citizen input, I am afraid that the critical nature of our flooding and connected problems will not be brought home to the people charged with operating different phases of the program just how vital their various jobs are," McCauley said.

THE SENATOR said that he hoped that a short range, coordinated program could be worked out at the March 17 meeting and that a long range plan would be developed as soon as possible.

"If there is a need for immediate state legislative activity, I will have the bills in process for introduction on March 19," McCauley asserted. "The time has long passed for simply hoping that we in the Downriver area won't have a problem."

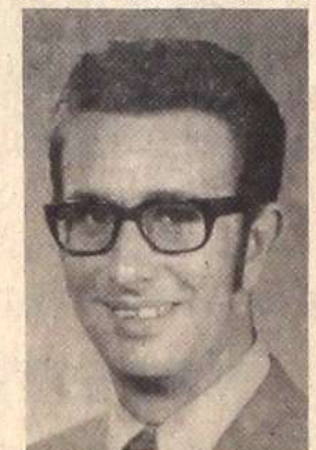

"That problem is here and now, and I propose that we get together and solve it."

Curator uncovers ancient art pieces

When Detroit Institute of Arts curator William H. Peck went on his most recent search for antiquities, he traveled no farther than Detroit's tri-county area to unearth "an astonishing number of quality pieces."

The museum's curator of ancient art assembled proof of his successful "dig" in "Detroit Collects: Antiquities," the loan exhibition opening to the public Wednesday, in the south wing main floor galleries.

The display contains more than 150 objects — 3500 B.C. to the sixth century A.D. — from more than 30 metropolitan area lenders. It will continue through April 29.

"Detroit Collects: Antiquities" is sponsored by The Antiquaries of the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts as part of its continuing exploration of the ancient world in a program of lectures, visits to other museums and collections and meetings with experts in related fields.

Area troops celebrate 'Girl Scout Week'

Wayne County Girl Scout troops are joining 500 troops throughout the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council by saying "thank you, neighbor" to organizations and individuals who have helped their troop or their community during "Girl Scout Week," through Saturday.

Junior Troop No. 227 of New Boston, will have a banquet honoring the principal, teachers and parents of St. Stephen's School Friday. Troop leader, Mrs. Gerald Shearner of 30488 Prescott Rd., Romulus, said the girls want to express their appreciation "for all the help these people have given them over the years."

JUNIOR TROOP 278 of Belleville had a mass said and attended mass together with Brownie Troop 601 on Girl Scout Sunday, March 11.

The girls invited their sponsoring group, the St. Anthony's Mothers Club, to attend the service with them.

JUNIOR TROOP 269, under leader Mrs. Edward Wilk of 18133 Hannan Rd., New Boston cleaned up the book storage room of Hannan Road School yesterday to thank the school for giving them a meeting place and helping them with other needs.

Brownie Troop 664, under leader Mrs. James Nagy of 6901 Homefield St., Romulus, will thank their sponsoring organization, the Hayti PTA for their help by making a cake decorated with the words "Thank You!" for their March PTA meeting.

THE GROUP also plans to send a special thank you note to Mrs. Carolyn Kuhn, who frequently gives the troop valuable supplies.

Area girl honored for grades

A Belleville girl, Cathy A. Petrasky, daughter of John A. Petrasky, 45290 Harmony Lane, was among 50 sons and daughters of Marathon Oil Co. employees honored as 1973 Marathon Scholars for outstanding academic achievement.

Along with other students honored, she receives a $100 award and is eligible to apply for a financial aid grant. Grants are for four years of undergraduate study and are subject to a maximum of $1,500 per year.

SEARCHING FOR HEALTH? Is Your Method Failing?

Chiropractic
SOMETHING NEW?

YOU BET IT IS...
AND IT'S ABOUT TIME

It is not a lack of medicine in your bloodstream that causes SICKNESS! and putting medicine in your blood stream does not cause HEALTH! Ever think of it this way?
AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE From Dr. James W. O'Dell

Chiropractic FIRST, medicine second and surgery last. With complete logic we recommend this plan-of-health to you. Hundreds of patients with varying diagnoses are being successfully cared for in our offices. Many of these people have chosen chiropractic FIRST in their effort to become well again. Others "have made the rounds," spent much money, and waited valuable time BEFORE deciding to utilize the chiropractic method of healing — the story of results is still the same — very few (less than 8%) fail to obtain results. Other than chiropractic there is no healing science that can claim so much.

For example, tell me just how wise is it to cover up pain — this is done repeatedly for arthritis, headache, back pain — just name it! How wise is it to "cover up" an ulcer, to "neutralize" a stomach, to give a nervous person a tranquilizer or a nerve pill, to offer a sleeping pill for one who cannot sleep, to control high blood pressure by prescription. How wise is it to "cover up" the real and basic cause of the trouble. Why are so many patients told "You'll have to live with it" or "You have a nervous stomach," or "You're getting older so you must expect these things" or "You have arthritis" (4 of 5 don't), or "It's nerves," or "It's all in your head."

I'll tell you why! They don't have the answer to why people get sick! They don't have the answer so they cover up by prescribing pain pills, sleeping pills, water pills, stomach pills, kidney pills, headache pills and on down the line — THIS IS THE COVER UP. When the conditions worsens and becomes serious and they can't "cover up" any more, they turn you over to the surgeon . . . he can't cover up so he "cuts up" . . . stomach gall bladder, female organs . . . you name it. After the surgery the "pill cycle" starts all over again to take the place of the function of the organs "cut up" or removed.

Chiropractic has no cover up . . . we can't fool anyone . . . we put nothing into the body . . . nor take anything away . . . Chiropractic believes that nothing man manufactures on the outside of the body can compare with the natural manufacture of chemicals within the body. Chiropractic proves this daily . . . and now over 40 million people have experienced that which I am talking about. No, there is no "cover up" in chiropractic.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Do you believe everything you hear or read these days? Surely not. The world is filled with unscrupulous propagandists who ballyhoo shameful causes, people and purposes. Tricky words and slogans are used to misrepresent the truth to a populace, believed by propagandists to be naive, gullible and emotionally influenced.

Ironically, the word "propaganda" was originally a religious term used to propagate the faith. A guy named Joseph Goebbels, Nazi "Minister" (an odious title to be sure) of Propaganda in the Hitler era helped to change the meaning and purpose of propaganda. In later years the Communist propagandists made Goebbels look like a novice. And in all frankness even some of our own high ranking officials have at times conned our own people. Verbal atrocities coldly assassinate characters through witch hunting innuendos and half truth insinuations. No wonder propaganda in a general sense has fallen into ill-repute.

It is said there is a weld between propaganda and credibility. It is always best to look for the stronger weld between credibility and truth . . .

TRIAL PROGRAM — The Belleville High School has a student lounge. The lounge was proposed by the student council and will continue only as long as teachers and administrators feel it is successful. The students are (from left) Wayne Lucas, Brian Armour and John Agurs.

Lounge replaces study hall

A student lounge has replaced the traditional study hall at Belleville Senior High School. The creation of the student lounge, which was one of required study halls at the beginning of the current semester by the high school student council is being operated on a trial basis and will be continued only as long as school administrators and teachers felt it was successful.

STUDENTS who do not have a subject class during some period may now have three choices rather than automatically being assigned to a study hall. Such students may report to the school library, go to a "quiet study hall" where they may study in a quiet atmosphere, or they may go to the student lounge held in the cafeteria where they may visit friends, play chess, checkers, cards or other games or play music.

Students who use the student lounge may not be noisy, may not dance, gamble or throw things, school officials said. This trial plan is predicated on the idea that learning cannot be very successfully forced on one and that students must want, or at least be willing to study. The opportunity is there for those who wish to do so, but a student who has his homework done, or who does not choose to do it, at that time, may go to the student lounge.

ACCORDING to administrators and teachers, the program seems to be working well.

Belleville

'Mame' cast is selected

By TOM KETCHUM

The cast for "Mame" has been selected. The play will be staged May 10, 11, 12, 13. More than 60 people auditioned for the cast, and there are another 20 in the orchestra, and 20 or 30 more involved behind the scenes.

Women's lib has a strong foothold at BHS. Aleta Rice is a diver on the swim team, and there are several girls out for track, and several more trying to crack baseball (the problem with baseball is a hairline definition. Girls do have a softball team, but are softball and baseball the same thing?) Let's not forget — Greg Martin is trying to break into varsity softball.

Why not department — There's a question wandering about the school. "Why isn't the old bus parking lot converted to tennis courts?"

The space is not used at present, since buses are now provided by the Michigan School Bus Service and the company does not use the school facility. Maybe an answer will sift down from the office one of these days.

The Belleville High School Music Department has chosen Saturday as their next concert date. This concert not only celebrates the Irish holiday of St. Patrick but also is a memorial to the men who fought and died in the recently terminated Vietnam War.

In addition to the segment dedicated to our American soldiers, is a lighter section of nursery rhymes which the younger members of the audience will enjoy.

MRS. LOUISE Pitcher, who was new to this school system only last fall has innovated new projects, the format of this concert only one of many.

In addition to preparing this concert and rehearsing the three vocal groups participating, Mrs. Pitcher also has been deciding her cast for the spring musical "Mame."

The concert choir, and the Men and Women's Glee Clubs are proud of their director and her talent for providing interesting and original shows. Admission is a penny a pound or $1 whichever comes first. This, the choir hopes will encourage people to bring children along. The show is set at the high school auditorium, 501 Columbia Ave.

Any profit from this show will go to enlarging the fund for summer camp students.

To Whom It May Concern:

After reading the February Motor News with articles on camping, trailering, canoeing and hiking, the family just had to head for the great Michigan outdoors.

The wife was prepared to go by herself after she read "Camping Without Men" by Ken Ferguson. The kids picked up Motor News and read Don Charles' "Michigan Shore-to-Shore Trails" and wanted to go backpacking. After I read "Michigan's Canoe Trails" by James A.O. Clow, I felt like going on a canoe trip.

Owen concerned about area lake

Area state representative Gary M. Owen is concerned about Belleville and Ford Lakes.

He has co-sponsored a house resolution which would direct the Department of Natural Resources not to enter into an agreement with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers "to flood Pointe Mouillee Marsh with polluted dredged spoils from the Detroit and Rouge Rivers."

Owen represents Van Buren, Ypsilanti, Belleville, and part of Romulus.

I AM particularly concerned about the long-range effect this proposal would have on Ford and Belleville Lakes," he said. "It should be our objective to preserve what natural resources and scenic beauty we have remaining in southeastern Michigan. I feel that to carry out the plans of the corps of engineers would be contrary to the feelings of the overwhelming majority of the people in my district."

The Department of Natural Resources has offered some of the best bottomlands at Pointe Mouillee for a fill for use by the Detroit District of the Corps of Engineers.

"The Parcel of land in question is a major part of the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area," he said. "Local conservationists and sportsmen have rightly opposed this transfer."

"They contend, and I agree, that this remaining bit of natural marshland should remain as it is instead of using it as a dumping ground for wastes from the Detroit and Rouge Rivers. Instead of solving pollution problems, this would create more of them."

OWEN SAID the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area is a valuable recreation area and one of the few remaining waterfowl centers in the State of Michigan.

"It is on two national flyways for mallards, canvasbacks, redbreasted mergansers and other types of natural wildlife we are attempting to preserve."

PRESTIGE MODEL — Mobile home manufacturers are upgrading mobile homes to appeal to the more affluent home owners. Traditionally, mobile homes have been appealing because they are low in cost, come furnished and are easy to maintain. Recent surveys show people are willing to pay more for better quality interior furnishings and mobile homes.

Furniture package upgrades interior of new mobile homes

A new trend in interior furnishings is helping close the gap between mobile homes and traditionally built houses. A complete interior furnishings package from one source is making it possible to upgrade mobile home interiors without raising costs to the point that they are no longer economically attractive.

TRADITIONALLY, mobile homes have been appealing because they are low in cost, come completely furnished, are easy to maintain, have short-term financing and almost have immediate availability.

Recent surveys have shown that most people are willing to pay more for better quality interior furnishings, and manufacturers and furnishing suppliers are beginning to take them seriously.

IN UNVEILING its new line for 1973 at a dealers showing in Wisconsin, one manufacturer displayed a prestige model which was designed to satisfy desires of the more affluent mobile home owners.

The two-bedroom, 14-foot by 70-foot model, designed to retail for an estimated $12,000, boasts a total interior from one of the nation's leading suppliers of interior furnishings. The package included furniture from the company's preferred collection, high quality shag carpets, cushioned vinyl floors, and the new ceiling system.

THE HOME was designed for a more established group of people residing in the upper Midwest area of Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa, the designer said.

"These people are more conservative, are retired or about to retire, and they play bridge and entertain," the designer added. "They want and are willing to pay for

Mobile home should comply with safety and health plan

The safety and health of consumers is the main goal of the mobile home industry which is attempting to gain national adoption of its construction standard.

Standard A119.1 regulates body and frame design, construction requirements and installation of plumbing, heating and electrical systems.

"TO THIS date 35 states have adopted the construction standard and a few more are seriously considering it," said Robert A. DeRose, DeRose Industries, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association (MHMA).

"The mobile home industry pioneered national building standards for manufactured housing and we will not be satisfied until all 50 states have adopted A119.1," DeRose said.

THE STANDARD was developed by more than 60 firms, trade associations, governmental agencies and code groups. It was adopted by MHMA members in 1959 and covered only plumbing, heating and electrical installations.

"We have made great strides," DeRose said "On January 1, 1969, the industry added construction requirements and now MHMA members certify that homes built to A119.1 meet performance tests covering wind, roof, wall, frame and other structural loads."

MHMA HAS increased its number of standards inspectors so more frequent plant visits can be achieved. This has resulted in better quality control. Inspectors also instruct and advise

MHMA launches program to stop wind damage

Operation Anchor-Safe, a nationwide effort to alleviate problems of wind damage to mobile homes, has accomplished landslide success.

This program, launched by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association (MHMA) a year ago, encompasses both educational and legislative action for guidelines in anchoring mobile homes.

"THE RESPONSE to Operation Anchor-Safe has been fantastic, according to a MHMA spokesman.

Since its inception, we've had more than 4,000 requests for our information leaflet on anchoring mobile homes," said Julia Herron, MHMA's Director of Consumer Education.

"Mobile homes are subject to storm damage like any housing. Operation Anchor-Safe provides consumers, retailers and development management with educational material and a legal means for reducing most of the wind damage factor," said John M. Martin, MHMA President. Martin also said the industry is attempting to have every state adopt legislative requirements for safe mobile home anchoring.

SINCE JANUARY 1, all mobile homes built by MHMA members must have tie downs or provisions for tie downs. This requirement complements engineering drawings for tie down procedures prepared by a licensed engineer.

Correct financing can save buyer $$

Correct financing can save a mobile home buyer $5,000 on a $10,000 home.

"Thanks to the Consumer Credit Protection Act, a home buyer should no longer be confused by financial terms," said Richard C. Mitchell, director of Land Development for the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

"BY LAW, the dealer, bank or finance company must quote the buyer a rate in simple interest, or annual percent rate," he added.

About 90 per cent of the estimated $10 billion now outstanding on mobile home loans was financed through a commercial loan at add-on interest, Mitchell said. These loans usually require down-payments of 10 to 15 per cent and are handled through banks, finance companies or savings and loan associations.

PROGRAMS recently developed by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Authority have been big boosts to mobile home buyers. They assure lower down payment and monthly payments from 15 to 20 percent less than those under commercial financing.

Since banks and finance companies were hesitant to offer mobile home loans under the FHA loan program, FHA developed a way to make mortgage money more readily available to home buyers.

THE GOVERNMENT National Mortgage Association, called Ginnie Mae, offers manufacturers money to loan through the sale of GNMA-endorsed securities. This means money raised through the GNMA program must be loaned through dealers at a rate of 7.9 per cent on single wide units and 7.63 per cent on double-wides.

VA loans are a second government-backed program which offer benefits to loanes. However, VA interest rates are higher than those on FHA insured loans.

Under the VA loan program, a veteran can purchase a home with no down payment.

Safety glass law set

A new law that will sharply reduce the number of fatal and crippling injuries caused each year when people fall against non-safety glass will go into effect this year, Senator William Faust (D-Westland) said.

Senator Faust said that the new law as passed by the Michigan Legislature becomes effective July 1, and it requires the use of safety glazed materials in potentially hazardous locations.

"THIS INCLUDES all new construction, substantial remodeling, replacements in homes and public and commercial building—in all new storm doors, sliding glass doors, shower doors and tub enclosures," Senator Faust said.

National studies indicated that 250,000 Americans are hurt each year by this type of accident with about one in seven requiring hospital treatment. Close to half the victims are children 15 years and younger.

Safety glazed materials include laminated glass, tempered glass, wire-enforced glass or rigid plastic.

Accidents 142 deaths

Michigan traffic accidents claimed 142 lives in February, a decrease of 19 when compared with the 161 killed in February last year according to State Police traffic division provisional figures.

The toll was also four less than the average of 146 for February in the five years 1968-72. High for the month was 159 in 1964 while the low was 51 in wartime 1943.

THE DEATHS brought this year's two-month accumulated count to 320 which was three more than the total of 317 for the same period last year.

Reports of delayed deaths will increase slightly the totals for February and the accumulated period.

Canned food drive set

Museum sets lecture on old sports cars

One of the world's great automobiles — one of the oldest — is the subject of a special lecture Friday, in conjunction with the current exhibit Sports Cars in Review at the Henry Ford Museum.

The car is the Mercedes-Benz, the speaker is Karl Ludvigsen, automotive designer, historian and journalist whose latest book, "The Mercedes-Benz Racing Cars" and an earlier work, "Mercedes-Benz Guide," qualifies him as an expert on the marque.

A NATIVE of Kalamazoo, Ludvigsen attended the Michigan Institute of Technology and Pratt Institute before serving with Army Signal Corps in Germany. In 1956 he was a designer on the General Motors Styling Staff. Before becoming a freelance writer in 1967, he was technical editor for "Sports Cars Illustrated" and editor of Eastern to plan recital

A recital by two Eastern Michigan University faculty members will feature trumpet music by Carter Eggers and bassoon by Robert Quayle. The program will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday in Pease Auditorium, Ypsilanti.

Assisting the two soloists will be Elaine Jacobson, harpsichord and piano, and Mary Ida Yost, organ, also members of the Department of Music.

VIVALDI'S "Concerto in A Minor for Bassoon and Harpsichord" will open the program, followed by two selections for trumpet and organ. After a concerto for trumpet and piano and "Variations on a Theme" for bassoon and piano, the recital will close with "Concerto for Trumpet, Bassoon and Piano" by Hindemith.

Eggers, an assistant professor who holds degrees from the State University of South Dakota and from Ithaca College, joined the EMU staff in 1967. Quayle, also an assistant professor, has two music degrees from the University of Michigan and came to Eastern in 1969.

the magazine that succeeded it, "Car and Driver." For several years, he was a member of the General Motors news relations team assigned to the styling staff and other technical areas.

AS A journalist, Ludvigsen writes for "Automobile Quarterly," "Car and Driver," "Motor Trend," "Ward's Auto World," "Autocar," "Road and Track," "Auto Italiana," "Quatro Rodas," "Motor of London" and many others.

As a historian, he enjoys membership in the Vintage Sports Car Club of America, Steam Automobile Club of America, Society of Automotive Historians, the Milestone Car Society and the Aviation Historical Society.

LUDVIGSEN'S illustrated lecture will be presented in the Henry Ford Museum Theater at 8:30 p.m. The museum will remain open until 10 p.m. because of the 21st annual Sports Cars in Review on display in the Mechanical Arts Hall.

The review features more than 70 cars from seven nations tracing the evolution of the sports car from 1896 through the present with some glimpses into the future under the theme "Sporting Cars of the Classic Era."

Cherry Blossom Festival to be held in Washington

The 1973 National Cherry Blossom Festival will be held in Washington, D.C., April 7 to 14.

Officials of the Washington Area Convention and Visitors Bureau, the festival sponsor, predict a record crowd, and urge potential visitors to make immediate reservations.

THIS YEAR'S festival will open at 11 a.m. Saturday April 7 when 50 of the best high school bands in the nation will lead a three-hour parade down Constitution Avenue to the White House.

Special events will be held daily through April 14. "WELCOME Springtime 1973" will be the theme of this year's festival, which like its predecessors figures to attract hundreds of thousands of visitors to the nation's capital. Washington tourism has increased steadily for four SOLO SKATER — Interpretive, dazzling and different Anna Galmarini, Italian skating star leads a "Celebration" and takes a "Sentimental Journey" as part of her featured solos in two of the many great production numbers of "Ice Capades," opening at the Olympia Stadium in Detroit on March 20 for an engagement that will extend through March 27.

Coming Tuesday Italian skater tours with show

That "good things come in little packages" is a cliché that well illustrates petite, vivacious Anna Galmarini, the Italian skating star who will appear with the 1973 edition of Ice Capades at the Olympia Stadium from March 20 through March 27 for 11 performances.

At 4 feet 9 inches, tipping the scales at 97 pounds, the skater from Milan, Italy performs routines with a vitality and strength. Anna's expressive Italian nature and independent personality are magnified on the ice with a skating style that is both dynamic and interpretive.

"SKATING has always made me feel creative and free," Anna said. "Of course, I began skating when I was just 10 because I didn't want to play soccer in school like all the other kids. Skating was different. I was lucky to have lived in Milan, which was the only city in Italy at that time to have an artificial ice rink."

Anna was soon taking instructions and winning her share of prizes and awards. At the age of 14, she went to Garmisch, Germany to study with the best European coaches there. An excellent pupil, she received a gold medal in figure and free skating tests, and within three years she was a member of the Italian Olympic team.

FOLLOWING the Olympics in 1960, Anna decided to leave the tedious "school figures" and costly amateur competitions, and joined a European ice show as a featured performer. Still 17 years old and bubbling over with talent and enthusiasm, she developed a routine for her first professional performance within two days.

A freedom-loving Libran (born October 15), Anna Galmarini has since become one of the world's top show skaters with a career that has taken her throughout Europe, Mexico and the United States.

Salzburg orchestra to play in Detroit

A major attraction of Austria's world-famous Salzburg Music Festival will come to the Detroit Institute of Arts at 8:30 p.m. Friday, when the Mozarteum Orchestra of Salzburg appears in the museum's concert series.

The 45-member orchestra, under chief conductor Leopold Hager, will perform an all-Mozart program: "Symphony No. 34 in C Major," "Divertimento No. 7 in D Major," "Pasticcio-Klavierkonzert" (with Leopold Hager, pianist) and "Symphony No. 38 in D Major" ("Prague").

RICH IN historical tradition, today's Mozarteum began with the famous private orchestra that served the Prince-Archbishops of Salzburg when Leopold Mozart and his son, Wolfgang Amadeus, were associated with it.

The group dissolved early in the 19th century. After establishment of the Mozarteum music school in 1880 the orchestra revived, composed of the school's teachers and graduates, and participated in the early Mozart Festivals, forerunners of the present Salzburg Festivals.

FOLLOWING World War II, the Mozarteum Orchestra was again reconstituted, this time entirely from professional musicians. In 1958 the city and province of Salzburg took over patronage of the orchestra, today the group gives an annual series of symphony concerts in Salzburg, takes part in operatic performances at the Salzburg Landestheater and in concerts on Austrian Radio.

Unsurpassed in its interpretation of Mozart scores, it frequently tours Europe, Africa and America.

Poetry corner...

The pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Belleville has submitted the following poem by an unknown author:

A SMILE

A smile costs nothing but gives much. It enriches those who receive, without making poorer those who give. It takes but a moment, yet the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None of us is so rich or mighty that he can get along without it, and none is so poor but that he can be made rich by it. A smile creates happiness in the home, creates goodwill in business and is the countersign of friendship. It brings rest to the weary, cheer to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad. It is nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is of no value to anyone until it is given away. Some people are too tired to give a smile. Give them one of yours, as none needs a smile so much as he who has no more to give.

Area students get boat, snowmobile certificates

Safe boating and snowmobile safety certificates have been earned by several Romulus area students during the winter semester classes of the Romulus Continuing Education program.

Arthur Robell, instructor with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), awarded 28 snowmobile safety certificates to the following students:

James Schmidt, Debbie Jones, Robert Dugan, Mark Bruyere, Steven Schultz, Debra Druyer, Gregory Hoffer, Kristine Delino, and Peony Elton.

Linda Cabay, Terri Druyer, Steven Finch, John Czek, Derrick Schultz, Dale Zimmerman, Michael McCallum and Kelly Delino.

Amy Burr, Donna Cabay, Michael Bruyere, Brian Sedlack, David Britz, David Zimmerman, Sharon Persondek and Carol Cabay.

SNOWMOBILE classes were held at Romulus Senior High during January and arrangements were cooperatively handled by the city recreation department and Romulus Continuing Education.

Effective Jan. 1, 1974, all persons 12-16 years of age will be required to pass a snowmobile safety class in order to legally operate a snowmobile without adult supervision. Snowmobile classes are again planned for Romulus during the fall semester of the Romulus Continuing Education program.

SAFE BOATING classes sponsored by the Wayne

County Sheriff's Department also were held at Romulus Senior High during February, and students earning safe boating certificates included:

Mike Austin, Michelle Bradley, Kim Christensen, David Cook, Patricia Ellis, Charles Jeffery, Shelly Jeffery, Howard Hamrick, Brent Kreyger and Carol Linderman.

Judy Linderman, Randy Linderman, Julie Moore, Earl Mullins, Steve Napier, Kenneth Sims, Derrick Schultz, Steve Schultz Rick Wojcik and Richard Zavits.

Sgt. Fred Reiman of the sheriff's marine division instructed the class and reported that all 20 Romulus students passed the course with an 85 per cent class average. Several parents also attended the class and took the examination with passing scores.

Michigan law also requires safe boating certificates for persons 12 to 16 years of age who operate a motor boat over six horsepower. Sgt. Reiman said that Wayne County waters are the safest in the state, due largely to intensive educational efforts of agencies such as the Coast Guard and Sheriff's Department.

ADDITIONAL boating classes are again being planned for winter semester of Romulus Continuing Education, and further details may be obtained by calling 941-1600 ext. 37.

Morning smoker cough isn't normal

Too many people, including millions of smokers, think a morning cough is not only routine but normal. It isn't. A cough has a reason for being. Coughing is one way the body tries to get rid of excess phlegm and mucus.

NORMALLY, mucus moves from the breathing passages up toward the mouth, swept along by tiny broomlike structures called cilia. The moving carpet of mucus collects dirt and germs along the way. But when the cilia stop moving the mucus accumulates. Especially at night.

Coughing in the morning shakes loose this sticky collection of mucus, dirt and germs. But in the meantime, the dirt irritates the air passages and the germs have a chance to reproduce and invade the body tissues.

SMOKING JUST one cigarette slows down the action of the cilia and interferes with the upward trip of the moving mucus. Heavy smoking completely paralyzes the cilia and leaves the bronchial tubes, which connect the lungs and the windpipe, open to all kinds of infection.

Once the bronchial tubes are irritated for long periods, excess mucus is secreted constantly. Then coughing becomes compulsive.

Chronic bronchitis is a lung disease which now affects four million Americans. Its symptoms are a cough that hangs on for at least three months, comes and goes with colds, and recurs for at least two years in a row.

ATTENTION MUST be paid to that kind of a cough, and medical treatment — plus quitting smoking — can clear up the symptoms.

If it is untreated, the disease can mean serious trouble. Chronic bronchitis can be a forerunner of pulmonary emphysema, which involves permanent destruction of the air sacs of the lungs.

The structure is located at the intersection of Michigan Avenue and Denton Road in the Denton community.

Leading the 11 a.m. ceremonies was Dr. Robert Ward, the district superintendent of the Ann Arbor District of the United Methodist Church. Rev. Norman Beckwith, pastor of the church, assisted.

The following members of the church also assumed leadership roles in the celebration: Miss Karla Hall, Mrs. Ruth Good, J. D. Clark, Paul Hedding and Roger Bernhardt.

High moment of the event was the burning of the mortgage to officially recognize the ending of all indebtedness against the present building.

The congregation was formed in 1967 when the Sheldon United Methodist Church and the Denton United Methodist Church merged to form Faith United Methodist Church of Van Buren Township.

Ground was broken for the present building in the summer of 1971. The first service of worship was held in the new building on the first Sunday of Advent, 1971, four weeks before Christmas.

A well-equipped kitchen was added in the Spring of 1972, paid for in large part by dedicated coupon-clipping done by many of the women of the church. A large lighted outdoor bulletin board was also added to the property in the Fall of 1972.

PARKING lot facilities have been greatly improved by construction of paved areas and the addition of crushed stone. Three light-poles provide adequate lighting for night-time use of the building.

Romulus extends district cage rule

DISTRICT CAGE CHAMPS...AGAIN — It's getting to be a pleasurable habit for Romulus' basketball team to win the district championship. And the Eagles did it again, for the third consecutive year, Friday night by whipping Taylor Center. Coach Dave Court (at right) huddles in his "winning lineup" after Friday night's triumph to pose for the photographer. Holding the championship trophy are senior guards Ron Kersey (at left) and Tony Owens. Also pictured with the Eagle cagers are the cheerleaders and assistant coaches Al Wilkerson (from left, standing) and Jesse Meriweather.

Eagles overpower Taylor

Despite a mild challenge from Taylor Center Friday night, Romulus High cagers and Coach Dave Court maintained their monopoly on district championships.

Court's Eagles flew past finalist, Taylor, 77-55, to capture their third consecutive Class A district basketball championship before a standing room only audience.

Leading 19-9 at the end of the first period, Romulus held a 33-25 halftime lead, then pulled away 55-42 for three periods before breaking it open by outscoring the Rams 22-13 in the final stanza.

The closest Taylor came to catching the hosts in the second half was two points, 35-33, but Ron Bostick's successive tapins — he got three in a row — pulled the Eagles away for good.

"I was a little weary at that point when it appeared that they would catch us," said Court, "but these kids have come through when the pressure has been on. And I was sure they would again."

The victory enabled Romulus to bid for the regional championship at Belleville High. The Eagles were to play Westland John Glenn last night. The winner of that game will advance to the finals which would be played Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Taylor had the lead three times in the early stages of the game and also tied the score once. Jim Gendron's layup the first seconds of the game gave the visitors a 2-0 edge which dissipated when James Hall sank a free throw and John Long rammed in a jump shot.

Taylor's Gus Bentley and John Bennett made it a 6-3 ball game with successive baskets, but Long and Tony Owens came back with a pair of buckets to tie up the score at 7-7.

Then Long went to work, he scored 18 of his game high 22 points in the first half to keep the Eagles in the lead.

However, it was Bentley that caused most of the trouble for Romulus' defense in the second period. The 6-4 Taylor center came up with four baskets in that period to keep the game close.

Romulus saw its eight point halftime advantage vanish when Bennett and Gendron poured in two quick baskets to close the gap to 33-29. However, Hall sank a two-pointer then Bentley got his first basket of the period and Roy Elrod hit on a short jumper to pull the Rams within two points, 35-33.

Then Bostick opened up, ripping off three pivotal baskets that jolted Taylor. The Rams never really recovered after that.

Romulus increased its margin to 19 points at one point in the fourth period as both coaches emptied their benches.

Long picked up nine field goals and also made four free throws for his game leading 22 points. Bostick chipped in with 16 while Hall counted 13 and Owens contributed 10 points. Bentley's 14 points led Taylor which also received 10 points from Elrod.

Romulus pushed through 10 of its 18 free throws as compared to Taylor Center's 10 of 15 attempts at the free throw line.

Romulus avenges Allen Park loss

Romulus' Dave Court waited one year to get his hands on Allen Park, a team that destroyed the Eagles' chances of winning a regional basketball title last year.

And last week the two teams bumped into one another again. This time at the Romulus district's, in the semi-finals.

Romulus earned its margin of revenge 78-72 and ousted the Jaguars from the tournament.

"We wanted revenge and got it," said Court. "We waited one year for this one and when we met our boys didn't waste the chance to even up the score."

The victory moved the hosts into the championship round where they walloped Taylor Center, 77-55. (See related story).

Romulus' Rick Hubbert, who appears to be the long-awaited spark to fire up the Eagles' cage machine, split 40 points with forward John Long to pace the winners' attack.

Hubbert kept Allen Park's defense guessing with his pinpoint passing and jump shots and, when the Jaguars tried to put a stop to Rick's heroics, they left the middle open for the Eagles' "big men" — Ron Bostick, James Hall and Long to go to work.

Hubbert and Bostick gave the Eagles a 4-1 lead in the first period and Hall made it a 6-3 game after AP's Jim Perry drove in for a layup. Then, 6-11 Allen Park senior center Tom Agardy connected on a hook shot to close the gap to 6-5, but another long jumper by Hubbert widened the gap. Perry and Agardy then ripped off the next three baskets to give the visitors the lead for the first time 11-8.

However, Long came alive and sank a tapin, then slipped in two free throws and with 30 seconds left Allen Park's Mike Flood scored his first basket (13-12).

But Hubbert and Long rattled two successive baskets to make it a 16-13 Romulus quarter.

Glenn jolts Belleville, 71-68

Westland John Glenn kept its poise under constant pressure during a heated contest to turn back Belleville and capture the school's first Class A district basketball championship Saturday afternoon.

Glenn fought off the determined host 71-68 qualify for the regional tournament which also will be held at Belleville beginning tomorrow.

"We're very happy and pleased to win the district championship," said Glenn Coach Gordie Davis, whose Rockets also captured their first Northwest Suburban Conference title this year. "The boys were under pressure throughout most of the game and kept their poise. That is how it has been all year and th it's the kind of team we have had - one that can take the pressure."

GLENN WILL launch its bid for a regional title at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow against Romulus. The winner of that game will play for the championship which is scheduled for Friday also at 7:30 p.m.

Also paired at Belleville are Detroit Southwestern, winner of the Melvindale district, and Temperance-Bedford, winner of its own district tournament. The two will play Wednesday and the winner will advance to the title game.

"I'm happy with the way our kids played," said Gates, "it was a good all-round effort, but I was disappointed, more for the kids, than anything else that we didn't win the district's.

"However, we came back to win three out of the last four games," said Gates.

Davis chose to start the players who have done the job throughout the year - Dave Carlington and Brian Kaluzny who played the posts, Jeff Brittain, at forward, while J. P. McBride and Jim Kholman at the guard slots, while Belleville's Al Gates countered with Al Cicotte at center, guards Walt Easley and Mel Abraham and forwards Charlie Brown and Terry Pate.

Though Glenn set the pace most of the game, the Westlanders were never really able to break it open.

During the entire battle, Belleville had the lead but twice. The Tigers pulled ahead 8-6 on a jump shot by Easley in the first quarter and successive jumpers, again by Easley, gave them a 24-23 edge midway in the second period.

However, it was Belleville that was forced to play "catchup" ball most of the afternoon.

McBride's first shot gave Glenn a 2-0 edge, then Terry Pate tied it up. Jeff Brittain broke the deadlock with his first basket and Cicotte shook got the equalizer.

Easley then drilled in his first of a series of long shots that rocked the gym. He gave the Tigers the lead momentarily 6-4 but Carlington's tap in evened up the score.

BELLEVILLE ripped off the next three baskets as Easley found the mark twice and Cicotte once to give the hosts their widest margin of the evening, 12-6.

Kaluzny led the Rocket comeback as he dropped in his initial marker, then hit on two free throws and Brittain's corner shot tied up the game at 12-11.

Cicotte and Carlington exchanged a pair of baskets and the score remained tied at 16-16 until Brittain's three point play gave the Westlanders a 19-16 first period edge.

KHOLMAN made it a 21-16 ball game, then Cicotte and Easley "got hot". First Cicotte dropped in successive under-the-basket two-pointers, then Easley hit on a couple of his long shots while Brittain's jumper was the only basket the Rockets could come up with.

With 4:45 in the period, Belleville had a 24-23 edge.

McBride and Kaluzny led the Rockets back. McBride got the go-ahead basket (25-24), then Kaluzny came up with a basket and a pair of free throws to give them team a 29-24 edge. Brittain increased the margin to 31-24, but Easley again scored on back-to-back jump shots to pull the Tigers within three points.

Willie Currie came off the Tiger bench and got his first of two buckets in that period but (Continued on Page B-2)

Tigers oust Wayne

By JIM FREER

Center Al Cicotte spearheaded an assault which carried Belleville to an 78-73 triumph over Wayne and knocked the Zebras out of the Belleville Class A District Basketball Tournament last night.

Wayne had defeated Belleville in two previous meetings between the teams in 1972-73, but the Tigers' superior strength under the boards led them to victory in last night's post-season contest.

Belleville outrebounded Wayne by a 63-43 margin.

CICOTTE, a 6-6 senior, was the major thorn in the Zebras' side as he scored 26 points and pulled down 24 rebounds. He was aided by forwards Terry Pate, who had 18 points and 18 rebounds, and Charlie Brown, who totaled 18 points and 10 rebounds.

The Zebras trailed most of the way, but they were within striking distance until Belleville put together a hot streak in the middle of the third quarter.

Holding a 44-42 lead at that stage, Belleville outscored Wayne, 26-11, and built a lead which stood at 70-53 by the midway point of the fourth quarter.

BELLEVILLE then coasted to its second upset win of the tourney. Coach Al Gates' Tigers had topped Cherry Hill.

BRADLEY SMITH

Smith's state mat champ

Bradley Smith of Romulus won the championship in the 135-pound class at the Michigan High School Athletic Association's Class A Tournament at Calvin College in Kalamazoo Saturday.

Smith, a junior, won all four of his matches as he won the first state wrestling title ever for Romulus.

Bradley decisioned an old rival, Jose Garcia of Belleville, in the championship match.

Robert Morrison of Romulus provided the area with a second runner-up finish as he placed second in the 170 pound class.

Romulus finished fourth in the team competition at the meet.

Adrian won the championship with 33 points while Ypsilanti placed second with 29 points and Bedford-Temperance was third with 27 points. Romulus was fourth with 24½ points.

East Lansing was fifth with 24 points while Wayne Memorial (22), Swartz Creek (21½), Battle Creek Central (17), Flint Central (17), and Flint Northern (17) rounded out the top ten.

Sports Meridian Where did prep cage fans go? By TOM MOORADIAN

Something's wrong somewhere and maybe you can tell me where.

Some of the best high school basketball teams in the area — Garden City East, Garden City West, Cherry Hill, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn assembled last week at Belleville to compete for a district championship and there were empty seats, even for the finals, all over the place.

Where have all the fans gone?

Some of the area's best players: Dave Carlington (Glenn), Glenn Ambrose (Wayne), Bob Fowler (Cherry Hill), John Grigal (East), Mark Kilbourn (West), Al Cicotte (Belleville) performed and there were plenty of empty seats.

Where have all the fans gone?

From late November (the beginning of the prep cage season) to March covers only a few months and during that time fans have many opportunities to catch their team in action, but when it comes to playoff time, one usually finds that fans go begging for tournament tickets. It's the fans' last chance to see their favorite team in action.

It doesn't seem like playoffs, that "do-or-die" time when the fans aren't around to see the fatal blow.

Could it be this was what Garden City East Coach Billy Joe Young was alluding to when earlier last week he said, "there isn't a tournament atmosphere at Belleville?"

Surely, the players deserve more respect from the fans.

No way would a fan arrive late at the Romulus district playoffs and hope to get into the place without a struggle, let alone find a seat in the place. And the Churchill and Franklin districts reportedly were also played to standing room only crowds.

We don't know why area fans didn't flock to Belleville as they did to the other districts, maybe some of them will offer explanations.

And did you notice that of the four area high schools that hosted district tournaments - three of them were crowned champs and the fourth was a finalist?

Romulus, Franklin and Churchill finished on top of their respective district playoffs while Belleville, the fourth host, lost to Westland John Glenn in a cliffhanger.

Maybe there is something about "home court advantage after all."

The latest coaching casualty of the basketball season is Annapolis High Coach John Sisson, a Westlander, who announced this week that he would be stepping down as the Cougars head basketball coach.

Annapolis competes in the Mid-Wayne Conference and Sisson's team failed to win a league game this year and finished with a 1-18 record.

"I feel we should have won more games. We stayed on court with most of our opponents this season," Sisson said. "I feel therefore that our boys had the ability, then the question of motivation comes up and, apparently, I wasn't able to motivate these kids.

"That's why I feel I should give someone else a chance," Sisson said.

He's been the only cage coach in the five year history of that Dearborn Heights high school.

Glenn takes District

Kaluzny's four points - a basket and two free throws kept Glenn out front, 35-32.

BRITAIN had two free throw chances in the last seconds when Cicotte received his second foul and didn't miss, giving Glenn a 37-32 margin at halftime.

The Westlanders got some breathing room early in the third period as they bolted to a nine point lead. But Easley was joined by Mel Abraham in tearing the mets apart with their long shots which kept the hosts in the game.

Kaluzny and Easley exchanged baskets, then McBride and Carlington sank the next two to move the Rockets ahead 43-34. However, Abraham and Charlie Brown retaliated to cut the Rocket lead 43-38.

Brittain and McBride came back to increase the margin to 47-38 as Brown sustained his fourth personal foul.

Belleville's Bruce Verrot and Kaluzny exchanged baskets and Westland padded its lead by 10 points on Kaluzny's free throw and Carlington's basket which was answered by Abraham.

With 1:45 left in the third, Glenn had a 54-44 edge which was cut to eight points after Abraham dropped in two free throws and a basket and Easley connected on another one of his long shots while Carlington and McBride got the final baskets for the Rockets in the period.

GLENN carried an eight point (58-50) advantage into the final stanza which quickly dissipated to two points when quick baskets and Easley and Cicotte chipped in with one apiece. Carlington's two-pointer was the only marker the Rockets got in a three minut stretch.

With 5:14 left in the game, Belleville came within two (60-58) of tying up the game. However, Kholman gave the Rockets a four-point margin to work with a layup shot.

Carlington and Kaluzny sandwiched baskets between one made by Easley and Easley's free throw plus a tapin by Cicotte brought the Tigers within three (66-63).

Swim Club seeks new members

The Belleville Tiger Swim Club is seeking boys and girls between the ages of seven and 17 who are interested in competitive age group swimming.

The club, which is sponsored by the Belleville Kiwanis Club and is sanctioned by the Michigan Athletic Union, holds practice on week nights between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the Belleville High School pool.

Bob Renton coaches the club's swimmers and Frank Musser is the diving coach. Renton was a varsity swimmer at Belleville High and Western Michigan University. He is also the swimming coach at Belleville South Junior High.

Musser was a varsity diver at State University. A former diving coach at the Brookside Swim Club in Cincinnati, he is currently the diving coach at Belleville High.

Renton has his swimmers divided into two groups - A and B.

The swimmers in the B group receive individual instruction on techniques which are designed to improve their competitiveness and conditioning for eventual advancement to group A.

The A group swimmers work on conditioning at longer distances and receive training in such areas as starts and turns.

Virtually all of the A group swimmers compete in swimming meets throughout the metropolitan Detroit area. The club provides its swimmers with suits, (Continued on Page B-7)

Belleville avenges record loss

70-64, in an opening round game Monday night.

Wayne, which drew a first round bye, had trouble while shooting throughout the contest.

The Zebras hit on 29 of 82 field goal attempts while Belleville made 37 of 79 from the field.

WAYNE MISSED numerous layups and taps and the Zebras were also hurt by the fact that high-scoring Glenn Ambrose was not hitting with his usual sharpness from the outside.

Senior guard Kim Herbert played a fine all-around game and led the Zebras with 17 points. Ambrose, the only junior among the Wayne starters, added 15 points.

Ambrose, guard John Marmul, center Craig Barczuk did most of the scoring for Wayne as the teams traded baskets in the early minutes of the first quarter.

THE SCORE was tied at 12-12 with four minutes to go in the period when Cicotte led a surge which carried Belleville to a 22-17 advantage at the quarter's end.

The clubs continued to score against each other's man-to-man defenses in the second quarter and Belleville picked up one point, increasing its lead to 38-32 at the half.

Cicotte and Brown had 10 points apiece during the first half while Herbert topped Wayne with seven points.

The Zebras made frequent use of a full-court press and the tactic paid off at the start of the third quarter as it forced two quick Belleville turnovers.

A jump shot by Steve Taylor and a layup by Herbert resulted from the two Tiger miscues and, suddenly, Wayne was within two points at 38-36.

But Belleville came back with consecutive baskets. Pate and Cicotte to gain some breathing room at 42-36.

The Zebras continued to put on the pressure for several minutes. But Cicotte or one of his teammates always managed to come up with a two-pointer that enabled the Tigers to maintain their lead over the smaller Zebras.

Belleville continued to make use of its height advantage as it put the game away with its mid-second half spurt.

The Tigers were also hustling back on defense and Wayne was only able to make sporadic use of its strong fast break.

AMBROSE, a 6-1 swingman, led the Zebras in the rebounding department with 12. Barczuk, who at 6-2 was the biggest man in the Wayne lineup, had 10 rebounds.

Wayne's loss to Belleville came just two weeks after the Zebras had set a school scoring record in rolling to a 107-71 home-court victory over the Tigers.

In December the Zebras registered a 71-66 victory over the Tigers in a first-round game at the Belleville Christmas Tournament.

Last night's loss provided a disappointing ending to what had been a successful season for Coach Bill Hawley's Wayne team. The Zebras had rallied to tie Robichaud for the Mid-Wayne League's final championship.

Wayne ended the campaign with a 12-8 record while Belleville is now 6-15.

District tournament action will continue tonight at Belleville with John Glenn facing Garden City West at 7:30 in a semi-final game.

Tonight's winner will play Belleville for the district championship at 2 p.m. Saturday.

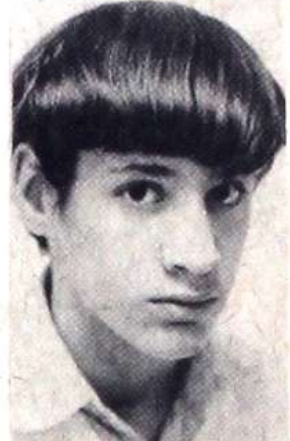

The district champion will stay at the same site for next week's Regional Tournament.

VERGIL SMITH

JOSE GARCIA

ROBERT MORRISON

Smith's state mat champion

was right behind in 21st with 10 1/2 points.

Garcia, the only Belleville wrestler at the state meet, accounted for all of the Tiger points.

Five of the top six teams (East Lansing was the lone exception) competed at the Bedford-Temperance District Tournament.

Romulus Coach Jim Stallings and Belleville Coach Gerry Malecek both noted that this illustrated the high caliber of the preliminary competition which took place at the Bedford-Temperance District and the Walled Lake Western Regional, from which the local wrestlers qualified for the state meet.

Smith had finished second to Garcia in the 145-pound class at the regional tournament.

Both wrestlers won their first three matches at the state meet to set the stage for the showdown in the championship match.

Garcia, a senior, had beaten Smith in their five previous meetings.

But Smith succeeded in taking advantage of his strong points and managed to keep the match away from the mat, where Garcia is strongest.

The match was scoreless after the first period. Smith took a 4-1 lead after the second period and went on to defeat Garcia, 8-3.

Bradley had advanced to the final by winning decisions over Eric Heard of Warren, 3-0, Rick Detkowski of Clarkston, 3-1, and Scott Verrik of Grandville, 4-3.

Jose worked his way into the championship match by decisioning Tom Gelineau of Clintondale, 11-4, Keith Morgan of Lansing Eastern, 14-1, and Pat Horan of Mt. Pleasant, 9-0.

Morrison earned his way into the final match in the 170-pound class by decisioning Doug Halmink of Holland, 10-0, and Dennis Jajos of Warren Fitzgerald, 9-2, and pinning Terry Watkins of Bay City Handy in 5:52.

Morrison lost a 4-3 decision to Waad Nadhir of Detroit Catholic Central in the final match.

Morrison was leading, 3-0, with one minute left in the match, but Nadhir scored a takedown to tie it at 3-3.

With 33 seconds left the wrestlers were near the edge of the mat when Morrison was penalized one point for stalling. Many observers felt that the penalty was unjust, but it gave Nadhir the match and the state title.

"It's a terrible way to lose a state championship and I honestly think that the referee was wrong in saying that Robert was stalling," commented Stallings. "Robert wrestled well in all four of his matches and we're very proud of his performance. I'm also sure that Robert would beat Nadhir if they wrestled again. In fact he's never lost twice to the same wrestler."

Morrison, a senior, finished the season with a 43-3 record. Smith compiled a 42-4-1 mark enroute to his state title. He has a career record of 99-14-1.

The 16-year old Smith is also a member of Romulus' varsity football and baseball teams. "Bradley did a tremendous job," said Stallings. "Before the tournament we set up a plan and he followed it perfectly. He wasn't concerned about winning by a big margin. He just wanted to make sure that he won four matches."

"We're all extremely proud of Bradley," continued the Romulus Coach. "He's worked hard all along and he's a very deserving state champion."

Both Garcia and Smith wrestled in last year's state meet but neither managed to place.

Miss Smith earns swim accolades

Luanne Smith of Belleville was one of the top performers for the Kalamazoo College Women's Swim team, which recently wound up its season with a 4-2 record.

Luanne finished third in the 100-yard backstroke in the team's season-ending 61-42 loss to Western Michigan.

Miss Smith, a sophomore, is one of the underclassmen who are being counted on to provide a strong nucleus for next year's Kalamazoo team.

A 1971 graduate of Belleville High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert G. Smith of Edison Lake Road, Belleville.

Michigan State sprint sensation Marshall Dill, sophomore from Detroit, won the 1973 Big Ten 300 title in :30.1 and shared the 60 crown with Purdue Olympian Larry Burton in a conference record :05.9.

Couple's life takes unexpected turn

By KAY DeBORD

Gail and Larry Riley were typical of their age group back in 1964. They "went steady," graduated together from Garden City High School (now East High School), and they got married.

The story isn't unusual — the Rileys had their ups and downs as do most young marrieds with myriad adjustments to make.

THEN THEIR way of life took an unexpected turn.

It started when Larry started playing softball with a church team in Livonia. To make sure he was eligible to play, the Rileys started casual attendance at the church.

There, enlightenment came. They heard the Gospel and made a commitment to Jesus Christ.

ACCORDING to Larry Riley "it changed our life completely." He admitted to being a "little ornery" and liking to do his share of running around, drinking and what seemed then to be living.

Larry, a truck driver for a lumber company, felt the call to the ministry. After considerable soul-searching, prayer and discussion, the young couple followed the call.

They sold their home and possessions and left Garden City to make their home in Missouri where Larry attended Central Bible College at Springfield, and Gail prepared to carry out her role in his ministry.

GAIL'S education has been of help to her as the wife of an evangelist. She's had a smattering of music, a college education lacking a year of completion and even had the experience of serving as a medical secretary at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital during vacations from attendance at college classes.

She's capable of teaching sons Stevie, 5, and Scott, 1, she sews and "keeps house" in the 30-foot trailer that serves as their home.

UPLIFTED by his calling, Larry Riley has faith in the message he brings to the people in his evangelistic travels, in words and in a new-found power of music.

Reaching people through gospel music has been a rewarding experience for the young couple, who give credit to the Almighty for the development of their talents, vocally and instrumentally.

Molding lend life to walls

Large wall areas in a room often pose a decorating problem. One inexpensive way to enliven a wall is to apply standard wood moldings in rectangular forms, like picture frames.

Moldings may be painted the same color as the walls, or a contrasting color. Wallpaper may be applied inside the rectangles, or only outside, for decorative effect.

Moldings are available in dozens of shapes and sizes at any lumber yard.

IN THE NEAR future they will be releasing an album of gospel music, their first, under their own Sunshine Records label, and the experience has been uplifting.

As Larry tells it, "after hearing us present our gospel message in music, a gentleman approached us and said we should make a record. I answered we should have the money to do it. The man asked the amount it would take, and then presented us with a check for half the amount."

The young evangelist and his wife are currently bringing their message of Jesus Christ to people in appearances at the Assembly of God Church in Belleville, where they will remain until March 18. After that, the Rileys will be at the Assembly in Taylor from March 25 to April 8.

WITH A TRUE faith in the power that has shown them the path they must follow, the Rileys hope to carry their evangelism further afield in the future, with more music, the possibility of radio ministry and geographic distance made possible by better means of transportation.

It isn't easy, according to Larry and Gail Riley, but the rewards are great.

Church leader preaches in area

Noted Church leader Allen B. Rice II will be preaching Sunday's 11 a.m. service at Faith United Methodist Church.

The church is located on the corner of Michigan Avenue and Denton Road, just east of Ypsilanti.

Mr. Rice, associate director of the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems, holds a B.D. degree from the United Methodist Garrett Theological Seminary near Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Rice is an ordained minister of the United Methodist Church with 23 years experience in the parish ministry and community group activities.

For four years he was pastor of the Belleville United Methodist Church before being appointed Associate Director of MICAP. He also served three years as president of MICAP.

Mr. Rice is now working as a legislative agent (lobbyist) for MICAP, representing the church's concern for public morals issues before the Michigan Legislature in the areas of alcohol, gambling, and drug abuse.

As the father of four children, Mr. Rice is concerned with the moral and social development of the young people of Michigan communities.

He is eager to share his experience and to explain how concerned Christians can combine their efforts to help meet some of the most challenging problems facing the Church and our modern society.

The public is invited. A free will offering will be taken.

Huron Township sets Health Day

The Huron Township Health Committee will sponsor a "Huron Health Day" in Huron Township on April 11.

The program for Huron Health Day will be conducted in the old New Boston School, 19132 Huron River Dr., near Sibley Road from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

DOCTORS and registered nurses will be on duty all day. Services which will be offered on the day of the health clinic are:

Hearing testing by Wayne County Health Department; vision screening by Detroit Society for Prevention of Blindness; urine tests for sugar, protein and blood by Huron Health Committee and pap smear and breast examination by the Michigan Cancer Society.

THE SENIOR Citizens of Huron Township will serve refreshments.

The Huron School District will provide transportation for school children. Other transportation will be provided by the Christian Service of St. Stephen's Catholic Church.

The immunization program will cover injections for measles, rubella and measles; rubella, mumps and measles; diphtheria and tetanus shots; diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough; oral polio, small pox vaccine and TB skin tests.

"THE WORD" IN MUSIC — The message of the gospel is brought to the people by Gail and Larry Riley, former Garden City residents, who soon will be releasing their first album of gospel songs under their own "Sunshine Records" label. The young couple are presently appearing at the Assembly of God in Belleville.

Sheriffs patrol Romulus streets

As part of the police-community program aimed at letting the residents better know police assigned to the City of Romulus by the road patrol division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the Enterprise-Roman is publishing a series of articles on the officers.

John Lewis, 34, has been with the sheriff's department since March, 1969. He moved into the City of Romulus shortly after being assigned to law enforcement in the city. He is the father of two children.

LEWIS said he feels that he is committed to doing the best job he possibly can do to justify the faith placed in him by the department and the city.

Duane Thomas, 31, has been with the sheriff's department for the last five years. He is married and the father of one boy and one girl. He enjoys hunting and fishing and all outdoor sports. He also plays on the department's football team.

About his work as a police officer in Romulus, Thomas said he has been pleasantly surprised by the excellent cooperation of the citizens of Romulus and feels that he has had less problems in communicating with people in Romulus than any other community he has worked.

ADOLPHUS ALLEN, 29, has been with the sheriff's department since June, 1972. He is married and the father of one son and has been a resident of Detroit for the last nine years.

Allen also is a member of the department's football team and enjoys the game of chess.

Last September, Allen was able to capture two bank robbers shortly after they had held-up a local bank. An alert citizen of Romulus directed Allen to their hiding place.

Rec. department sponsors classes

The Van Buren Township Recreation Department will sponsor several new recreational classes for the spring season.

An art class to include basic drawing and painting with acrylics will be offered and instructional swimming for adults and cake decorating, both canceled last season, will be re-opened.

BEGINNERS SEWING and guitar classes will continue during the spring season and advanced beginners classes in both programs will be added.

Golf instruction for adults will be offered at 7 or 8 p.m. on Wednesday or Thursday. Golf classes for teen-agers will begin on May 16 and will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

OTHER recreational programs scheduled for the spring season include student swimming classes, scuba diving, small engine repair, Coast Guard boating classes, adult physical fitness, modern dance, square dance and instruction in karate and drama.

Rep. sponsors bill for runaway care

By DON HOENSHELL
Lansing Bureau

Public and private agencies may establish temporary off-street shelters and counseling services for runaways.

Stat Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-Westland) has sponsored a bill providing temporary off-street shelters and counseling service for runaways.

"THESE children at present are being cared for by local police and juvenile authorities although they have committed no crime other than running away from home," Brown said.

"This bill will relieve the police from the large work that they now encounter in cases of runaways," he added.

BROWN said his bill is patterned after a proposal by U.S. Senator Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), providing for temporary housing and counseling for transit youth and strengthening inter-state reporting and services for parents of runaway children.

Brown, who last year headed a youth services study committee, said the bill also allows both private and local governmental agencies to qualify under guidelines established by the state and authorizes the director to apply for federal funds.

"THE PROBLEM of runaway children has become increasingly critical each year," Brown said. "More and more children are running away from home and up until now not enough attention has been focused to this problem."

"Because of the silent, major nature of the runaway problem it has been unnoticed many years. Most runaways are not criminals, just confused boys and girls who are overburdened with personal, family or school problems."

By WES THORP
LANSING — Security deposits for apartments would become long-term savings accounts under legislation proposed by a Dearborn Heights legislator.

State Sen. David Plawewski, D-Dearborn Heights, has sponsored a bill which would require landlords to pay 5 per cent interest on security deposits.

"By investing security deposits, a landlord is now able to pocket profits on his tenants' money," Plawewski said.

"WHEN WE consider the total amount of money held by landlords statewide, landlords are able to realize profits totaling millions of dollars," he added.

A similar proposal was made unsuccessfully last year by State Rep. Earl E. Nelson, D-Lansing, who was successful in getting the legislature to pass a law regulating security deposits.

In the course of legislative give-and-take, Nelson said the requirement that interest be paid on the deposits was deleted.

HOWEVER, he emphasized that there are some stiff obstacles to charging interest on the deposits.

If the landlord paid the interest, which Nelson said many times would amount to $5 or $6, he said the landlord would be required to issue an Internal Revenue Service wage and earnings report. These extra administrative costs, Nelson said would probably be passed on to the tenant in the form of higher rent.

"I would still favor the landlord paying the interest if there was some way to prevent the landlord from passing the cost to the tenant," he added. "The tenant ought to benefit from the landlord holding his money."

INSTEAD of paying a fixed rate such as the 5 per cent that Plawewski suggests, Nelson said the rate should change with the market place.

When interest at the banks goes up, then interest on the security deposits would go up and vice versa if the interest goes down.

The Security Deposit Act which Nelson moved through the legislature provides a method for landlords and tenants to settle their differences on how much of the deposit should be paid back.

BRIEFLY, the law requires a new renter and the landlord to complete a checklist on the condition of the apartment before moving in.

The two would have to agree on the condition of the apartment before occupancy.

When the tenant moves out, the landlord is supposed to complete another checklist with all the damages allegedly caused by the renter.

The landlord is then required to send this itemized list of damages and the cost of repairing them to the tenant.

There is a timetable spelled out for the whole procedure and there is also provision for the tenant to take the landlord to court in the case of a disagreement.

The act goes into effect on April 1. Plawewski's 12th district includes east Inkster.

Court orders Sumpter to issue sand permit

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Michael Stacey has ordered Sumpter Township to issue a sand removal permit to the owners and operators of SAT Enterprises of Belleville.

The court's decision handed down last week directs the township administration to issue a sand removal permit to Louis A. Toth and James Ackron of SAT Enterprises. It will permit them to renew sand excavations at a 60-acre parcel of land, located at Harris and Lohr Roads, Sumpter Township in accordance with township rules governing sand removal operations.

THE COURT ruling ended a four-year dispute regarding sand excavation involving the construction of a proposed nine-hole golf course on a 16-acre land site.

The company was issued a permit in 1969 to excavate four lakes for the proposed golf course.

Plans for the proposed golf course never were presented to the township. A subsequent township board refused to renew a one year permit basing its decision on the grounds that the firm did not intend to carry out its plans to build the golf course and that the excavations to the depth necessary to create the lakes would be in violation of the township's sand removal ordinance.

THE COURT in its decision ruled that the township had no reasonable grounds for refusing the permit as long as the excavations did not exceed the depths permitted by the ordinance.

A plea for damages filed by the firm against the township was dismissed by the court and the firm's charge that the township violated its original contract to permit the excavation in connection with the proposed golf course.

More permits issued

An annual review of 1972 building activity in the City of Belleville disclosed an increase in the number of building permits issued by the city's building department.

In 1972 there were 84 building permits issued with an estimated construction value of $1,517,480. This compares with 63 building permits in 1971 having a construction value of $6.5 million, said Anthony Talaga, chief building inspector.

LAST YEAR the city approved the construction of the Belmont Apartment project on W. Columbia Avenue. The apartment complex contains 132 dwelling units, which accounted for a major portion of the 1972 building valuation.

In the previous year the city building department approved the construction of Belle Villa on Sumpter Road and the Meadowbrook condominium complex located on Robbe Rd.

BELLE VILLA contains 247 dwelling units and 291 trailer pads. Its construction value was estimated at $6.5 million. Meadowbrook has 32 dwelling units built at an estimated cost of $500,000.

Laminated shape

In purchasing plastic laminate for an irregular surface, make a pattern of the top to be covered, then have the lumber yard cut it the same shape as the pattern.

LAST MINUTE CUSTOMERS — Area Secretary of State branch office managers urge car owners to purchase 1973 license plates early. Last year many residents waited in long lines in front of the Belleville office to get their plates. Office managers urge area residents to avoid long lines by buying plates now. The deadline is March 31.

Dog fee to go up

The fee for 1973 dog licenses as well as the penalty for applying after deadline have been increased for Van Buren Township dog owners.

Township Treasurer Ralph Hedman said beginning May 1, when the new dog licenses are due the license fee will be a flat $3 and dog owners who apply for their dog licenses after the June 14 deadline will have to pay $10.

THE DOG licenses go on sale May 1. Present license fees are $1.50 for male and unsexed dogs and $2.50 for female dogs.

Hedman said the increase was prompted by a township desire of ridding the township of "running-at-large" dogs and alerting dog owners in the township of the seriousness that dogs must be licensed or "face the increased penalty."

Cross recruits in area

Red Cross downriver regional office is recruiting hospital volunteers, open heart surgery callers and blood program volunteers.

"Because of the scope of the Red Cross volunteer program, there is a constant need to recruit and train volunteers for the variety of services rendered," said Mrs. Donald (Kay) O'Connell, chairman, Office of Volunteers, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American National Red Cross said.

RED CROSS hospital volunteers assist in "non-professional" duties. Their responsibilities include visiting with patients, performing errands, assisting with telephone calls and feeding of patients and many others.

Volunteers are needed at Wyandotte General Hospital, Outer Drive Hospital and Balmoral Skilled Nursing Home.

OPEN HEART surgery callers make appointments for volunteer blood donors, by blood type, to donate blood for open heart surgery. Bloodmobile volunteers perform "non-medical" duties such as taking temperatures, registering donors and serving refreshments.

Volunteers are also needed to fulfill clerical duties such as filing, typing and answering telephones.

In addition to individual volunteers, the Red Cross has developed a program for church groups and other organizations. The program enables club members to work together on various duties within the Red Cross volunteer programs.

VOLUNTEERS are needed who can donate a few hours of their time, one day each week. Interested persons or groups may call Red Cross downriver regional office at 282-2434.

Romulus cagers turn back Allen Park, 78-72

Romulus hit a scoring drought early in the second period as Agardy scored on a jump shot which drew immediate response from Long. However, Flood answered with two quick baskets and Perry scored his third bucket to move the Jaguars into the lead 21-18.

A goaltending call against Agardy in favor of Long put the Eagles within one which was erased when Bostick scored two free throws and Hall banked in a shot that was followed by Hubbert's three point play.

With three minutes to intermission, Romulus again was in control 27-23. Dan Kelley and Perry scored baskets and Jim Bearman hit on a pair of free throws as the lead changed hands again 29-28. Bearman, who moved into the lineup when Flood collected his third personal, scored again to make it a 32-28 ball game.

Long and Perry then exchanged baskets and Romulus trailed 34-30 with 45 seconds left. Hall's two-pointer closed the game to two points, but when Hubbert fouled Agardy who made the second of a two-shot deal, Allen Park came out with a 35-32 lead with seconds left.

Hubbert's basket closed the gap to one point, 35-24, as the half ended.

Allen Park made overtures of breaking the game open early in the third quarter when Agardy and Kirk Tooley each scored buckets to give their team a 39-34 edge.

Bostick's tapin, followed by Long's two-points kept the Eagles within one point. Flood and Romulus guard Tony Owens exchanged baskets to make it a 41-40 ball game.

Then, Allen Park made its move. Agardy scored and Bostick collected a couple of charity shots as Flood collected his fourth personal. The Romulus center made one of them.

Allen Park scored the next five points to give them a seven point advantage, 48-41, — its largest margin of the game.

Romulus roared back. Bostick sank two free throws and Owens pumped in a corner shot to pull the Eagles within three (48-45) and Hall's layup carried them within one. However, Perry was fouled with 1:42 left and sank both shots to give the Jaguars a 50-47 advantage.

Hall and Agardy then decided to exchange baskets, then Romulus went to work. Hubbert scored two "quickies" and Owens connected while Long followed up an errant ball as Allen Park could answer only with a pair of Flood's free throws.

Romulus took a 57-54 edge into the final period. Though AP kept the outcome of the game in doubt until the last three minutes, the Jaguars never saw the lead again as Owens drilled in eight points — hitting four crucial free throws at one stretch — to wrap up the victory.

Long, who had his 20 points on eight baskets and four free throws, also was instrumental on the boards where he teamed with Bostick to help control both ends of the court. Hubbert's 20 points came off of nine from the field and two free throws.

Owens and Hall also were in two figures with 14 points, while Bostick's 10 points rounded out the Eagle scoring. The champs also made 16 of 23 from the free throw line.

Agardy's 21 points topped the field and Perry finished with 20 while Flood, in foul trouble most of the night, collected 14. The Jaguars also were hot at the free throw line where they made 14 of 17.

Dearborn '8' swim crown

Dearborn, the defending Class A state swimming champ, had little difficulty defending its Suburban Conference title last week.

Coach Jack Johnson's Pioneers amassed 114 points to win the league meet. Following the defending champs were: Edsel Ford (72), Plymouth (24), Belleville (21), Allen Park (20), Bentley (16), Trenton (11) and Redford Union (8).

Belleville divers picked up a second and third place with Richard Golden (372.10) and Ray Leibler (365.30) while Aleta Rice, the first girl to compete for Belleville in a league meet, finished fifth with a total of 329.75.

Edsel's Curt Donaldson won the event with a total of 422.50.

Despite finishing fifth in both the 200-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly, Dean Ackron broke school records. The Belleville senior was clocked at 1:51.79 to eclipse the 200 freestyle mark of 1:53.90, then churned a 55.79 to nip the old mark of 56.46 for the butterfly.

Belleville's Jeff Liedell also broke a school record when he finished fifth in the 400-yard freestyle. He touched in at 4:04.60. The previous mark was 4:05.10.

The grueling test to qualify for the state finals began last night for Belleville swimmers and divers who competed in the regionals at Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

Ackron, who qualified in three events - 400 and 200 yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly and Liedell, also a qualifier in the 200 and 400 freestyle events - will represent the Tigers in the swimming events.

Miss Rice, Golden and Leibler would seek honors on the diving boards.

Prep swimmers begin last lap-state finals

For most prep swimmers the season is over, for a selected few who had qualifying times for state competition, the agony and ecstasy of regionals and state meets begin this week.

That's what it comes down to as all league competition ended last Saturday.

And the job of selecting the elite "All-Area" team will be up to the coaches, who will get together after the state finals for the annual meeting.

The listing has been compiled by Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski who can be reached at home (9-414-399) or at high school (PA 2-5900).

SOPH TOUCH — Belleville's Walt Easley (22) catches John Glenn's Jim Kholmman (dark jersey) grounded and goes up for a layup. However, it wasn't shots like this one that kept the local fans roaring, the 15-year-old sophomore guard drilled in nine long range jumpers and finished with a game high 25 points in the Tigers' lost to the Westlanders. —Enterprise Roman photo

CHALK ONE UP FOR RON — Romulus' Ron Bostick (44) squares this rebound in Friday night's district basketball showdown with Taylor Center. Bostick helped the Eagles control the boards and the game in winning their third consecutive title.
